

Penal Complex Officials Halt Use Of 5 Prescription Drugs

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Penal Complex administration has halted use of five prescription drugs shown in recent medical reports to be addictive, after an investigation disclosed drug abuse among prison inmates.

Warden Charles Wolff Jr., in a memo dated April 12 discontinued the use of two depressants — methaqualone under the trade names of Quaalude and Parest — and three amphetamines — Ritalin, Preludin and Dexedrine — because, in Wolff's words, inmates in some instances "have been conning the doctor."

While Wolff and Dr. L. E. Woytaszek, a consulting psychiatrist for the prison, maintained that as far as they know no inmates have become physiologically addicted to the prescription drugs, they acknowledged that some inmates have developed a psychological dependence on methaqualone, a sedative-hypnotic agent used to induce sleep.

An inmate, Richard Richtig, has filed a civil suit in U.S. District Court seeking the continued administration of methaqualone.

Methaqualone has been used "extensively" at the penal complex for an undetermined period — possibly since it was introduced on the market five or six years ago, Wolff speculated.

Both Wolff and Dr. Woytaszek were unable to say how many of the 900 inmates have been treated with the drug.

A U.S. Justice Department Bureau of Narcotics newsletter of May, 1972 reported that methaqualone has been abused abroad for a number of years and is being encountered increasingly in the U.S.

Dr. Woytaszek, who has practiced at the complex for the past two years, said that addictive properties of methaqualone were not known when it first reached the market.

"Like all drugs, it's got to be used under controlled conditions. Properly used, it's no problem. We didn't know it was addictive. Just now, reports are appearing in medical journals.

"Like other cases of drug abuse, the users were aware of it before us," Dr. Woytaszek said.

Normally, he reported, a 300 mg. dose of Quaalude or a 400 mg. dose of Parest was administered daily at 9 p.m. to an inmate complaining of insomnia.

"A lot of men are keyed up and tense," he said. "When the sleeping pattern is disturbed, methaqualone was ordinarily used."

"If a man said he wasn't sleeping, we took him at face value."

Later, Dr. Woytaszek said, "Inmates found they can get a 'buzz' or a high, if they force themselves to stay awake after taking it."

Dr. Woytaszek described methaqualone's effect as a "very pleasant, euphoric" state which lasts three to four hours. An overdose could result in delirium and a coma progressing to convulsions.

Prison officials reportedly determined the drug was being abused after it was found inmates who had taken the drug were watching television or reading instead of sleeping.

Inmates were also reported to be "tonguing" and "palming" the pills so that they could be sold to other prisoners or accumulated for more massive doses. However, Dr. Woytaszek said it would be difficult for actual physical addiction to occur, since four to six times the normal dosage would be needed.

Wolff concurred that there has been no physical addiction to the drug, despite the fact that non-addictive substitutes, such as Mellaril, Thorazine and Serenil are now being phased into use.

Medical references state that "caution must be exercised in administering (methaqualone) to individuals known to be addiction-prone or those whose history suggests they may increase the dosage at their own initiative." Nor, it was stated, should it be administered for more than three consecutive months.

Wolff said that prison policy is not to consider an individual's crime when medical needs must be met.

And Dr. Woytaszek said there is a monthly re-evaluation of medical prescriptions so that no inmate has received methaqualone for longer than three months. Normally, an inmate requiring further medication is given a substitute drug after the first month.

The review procedure involves talking to pharmacy personnel, cellmates, the guards and the inmate himself but does not include a formal medical exam to determine if addiction exists, he said.

The incidence of prescription drug abuse has also been cut down by the fact that the prison pharmacy was moved from within the prison walls to the main entrance building, Wolff said. What is really needed, he noted, is a full-time nurse to supervise the dosage.

Dr. Woytaszek estimated that possibly a dozen inmates are still being treated with potentially addictive drugs that were not banned. Those drugs are Librium, Valium and Equanil.

"We try to avoid addictive drugs, but we have to use some. There's no way to go about giving only abuse-free drugs," he said.

Twisters, Hail . . .

State Poked By Weather

Tornadoes, hail, hard rain, snow, strong winds and even sunshine appeared in Nebraska Thursday as part of a weather disturbance moving through the central plains.

Two farm buildings were extensively damaged during afternoon when what was described as a tornado struck the George Ord farm about three miles south of Beatrice.

In addition, the high winds snapped a utility pole. Mrs. Ord said she and her family escaped injury.

Touched Down
Earlier in the day, a tornado was sighted eight miles southeast of Republican City in south central Nebraska, near the Kansas border. The funnel cloud touched down, but no damage was reported.

Harold Schafer, Franklin County sheriff, said he was on patrol east of Republican City and watched the tornado tear into the earth.

It went down, and then went up and that was the last we saw of it," Schafer said. "You could see it whirling mostly dirt and things were flying in the air."

Frontier Airlines personnel reported a tornado touched down briefly southeast of Kearney.

Hail In Lincoln
Hailstones accompanied by winds up to 58 miles per hour and heavy rain pelted Lincoln early Thursday afternoon.

Although only pea-sized, hail fell steadily for several minutes in the Capital City, whitening streets and sidewalks as it piled up.

Scattered pockets of electrical and telephone outages were reported in Lincoln and at least one injury was suffered as a result of the storm.

Man Injured
A man identified as Donald Nelson, of 3027 Sewell was being held at Lincoln General Hospital with undetermined injuries suffered when a covered walkway at a construction site at 15th & P blew over.

A 76-year-old Lincoln woman was listed in "fair" condition at St. Elizabeth Health Center with injuries she received when she was blown down by the wind on 13th between M and N Thursday afternoon.

Police said Edna Lorch of 2626 N. 49th suffered facial cuts and a broken skull.

Witnesses told police the woman was walking along the sidewalk when she appeared to be lifted off her feet by the wind.

The strong winds also blew out displays windows at the Miller & Payne store at 12th and O Sts. and toppled a tall backyard antenna for a citizens band radio at the Donald R. Seuss home at 4140 Pace Blvd.

Farm Twisted
Harry Ondracek of rural North Bend said a tunnel cloud touched down at his farm some three and one-half miles north-east of North Bend and destroyed a barn, hog shed and chicken shed. Ondracek said there were no injuries to any livestock by the high winds.

Customers in the J. C. Penney store in Albion escaped injury when the plate glass in a display window was smashed by high winds.

Just minutes before, a funnel cloud was reported to have tipped over a camper trailer and blown away the roof of a home at the edge of Albion. No injuries were reported.

Authorities at the Bart Ford Farm near Valley reported heavy damage to some barns on the property.

One spokesman said damage could run as high as $100,000.

A portion of a rear wall of a building housing the Avis car rental service collapsed in downtown Omaha where winds were clocked up to 60 m.p.h.

In contrast to the rain and warmer temperatures in eastern Nebraska, the Scottsbluff and Kimball areas reported poor visibility due to high winds blowing snow and making travel difficult. Drifting was reported hindering travel on Nebraska 71 between Kimball and Scottsbluff.

Exon Says Unicam 'Irresponsible'

. . . 'Budget $366,000 Short Of Recommendations'

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon Thursday said the Legislature capped a week of "irresponsible" action by approving an operational budget which is still $366,000 short of his recommendations.

Exon said he probably will sign the budget bill, then seek funding additions through another appropriations measure.

"Should I return the bill to the Legislature, with the irresponsible mood it has developed, it might be that I would never get the 33 votes required to pass it again with the emergency clause," the governor said.

The bill, LB259, Exon's operational budget package without the $366,000 in additions he later requested, cleared the Unicameral on a 33-15 vote Thursday (See story on Page 16.)

Without 33 votes, the budget would not be effective prior to the July 1 beginning of the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Exon said a majority of senators have been "dedicated to playing partisan politics rather than acting responsibly" on budget matters this week.

And a majority of the members of the Appropriations Committee, in particular, have "abandoned not only all of their work, but all of their responsibilities which we customarily rely on as far as checks and balances are concerned."

The "main thrust" of legislative action all week has been irresponsibility, Exon insisted.

While LB259 is "the main part of my recommended budget," the governor said, "legislative attempts to pass it off as what the governor wanted are simply not true."

The Legislature "actually cut my budget recommendations by $366,000," Exon said.

Missing in the bill, he said, are:

—$150,000 for "badly needed programs for handicapped children," funded through the children's rehabilitation institute at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

—$146,467 to "insure full fiscal responsibility" for the state retirement system.

—$57,638 to provide law clerks for the State Supreme Court.

—$12,000 for milk inspection by the Department of Health.

Exon acknowledged that some senators are urging him to veto the bill or return it to the Legislature for change.

"But I told them the best way to handle this is to add amendments on to some other bill and hope that when the Legislature returns from its Easter recess, we will find it acting more responsibly," the governor said.

"It remains most frustrating to try and run a fiscally responsible state government and meet legitimate needs, while providing tax cuts, with a majority of senators dedicated to playing partisan politics rather than acting responsibly," he said.

As for the Appropriations Committee, Exon said, a majority of its members "have now made their own bed."

1974 Cars Won't Start Unless Belts Fastened

Washington (UPI) — Despite opposition from the auto industry, the government announced Thursday it will require 1974 cars to be designed so that the engine cannot be started unless the seat belt is buckled.

Known as the "interlock system," the safety standard requires front seat passengers to connect a lap-and-shoulder belt combination before the car can be started.

The safety standard is effective on cars manufactured after Aug. 15, 1973.

But the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration amended its proposal to also include an alternative system which would allow the engine to be started, but prevent the car from moving until the belt was buckled.

On 1973 cars, a light goes on and a buzzer sounds until the lap belt is connected.

Wiretap Plans Spirited Away

. . . Mitchell, Dean Accused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst announced Thursday he has withdrawn from the Watergate investigation because it involves friends and associates. His announcement followed reports that President Nixon's campaign deputy accused John N. Mitchell and John W. Dean III of planning the Democratic party bugging.

Meanwhile, a lawyer said in court papers that an unidentified client last summer took eight cardboard boxes of documents from the White House complex including plans for the Watergate wire tapping, before the FBI had a chance to see them.

The charge that Mitchell and Dean helped the Watergate planning were attributed to Jeb Stuart Magruder, formerly the No. 2 man in the Nixon campaign organization.

Dean, the President's official lawyer, did not respond directly but told newsmen he will not become a scapegoat in the case. His statement apparently took the White House by surprise.

The allegations were published in Thursday's Washington Post. Mitchell called them "nonsense" and said "this gets a little sillier as it goes along."

Kleindienst, who replaced Mitchell as attorney general when Mitchell became Nixon's campaign director, said he turned the probe over to Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen because it "relates to persons with whom I have had personal and professional relationships."

Sources close to the Senate's Watergate investigation say the Justice Department plans to seek grand jury indictments against eight present and former Nixon administration officials and employees.

Peter H. Wolf, a Washington attorney, said in papers filed in federal court Thursday he represents a former employee of the re-election committee who picked up the eight cartons at the Executive Office Building, adjacent to the White House, the day after the break-in at the Watergate office building.

He said the cartons included materials from the office of E. Howard Hunt, one of the seven convicted Watergate conspirators, who had worked as a consultant at the White House. Hunt's desk and safe were opened after the White House learned of his connection with the break-in and the contents were held for a week by Dean before Dean turned them over to the FBI.

Wolf said his client "had been asked to pick up the cartons at the Executive Office Building . . . that a pass would be waiting for him at the guard entrance, that no questions would be asked when the cartons were removed from the building and none were."

Wolf told newsmen later in the day that his client was a low-ranking employee at the Nixon campaign. Wolf said he had never seen the documents that his client told him about, and Wolf added that he believes most of the material that wasn't turned over to the court in the Common Cause suit has now been destroyed.

The lawyer asked for a court order that he not be required to reveal the name of his client to the federal grand jury investigating Watergate and other political espionage.

He said he had discussed the matter months ago with prosecutors in the Watergate case and received an opinion from prosecutor Earl J. Silbert "that he did not think my client was committing any crime."

In an angry response, Silbert said: "Considering the intensity of the investigation and the steps (prosecutors) have taken to secure all relevant evidence, the implication that evidence of this nature would be ignored is incredible."

Wolf said his client turned the materials back to the re-election committee shortly before the election and that some of the materials apparently included lists of contributors turned over by the committee in the civil suit filed by Common Cause.

Dean's statement was dictated by his office to the White House press office about the same time it was given to newsmen, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, and added it came as a surprise to him and the President.

Nixon, Ziegler said, "is spending a good deal of time" on Watergate-related matters since his announcement Tuesday that there had been major developments.

The 33-year-old Magruder, tall and dark-haired, was Mitchell's principal deputy at the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Watergate Panelist's Safe Open

Washington (AP) — A safe containing Watergate inquiry files in the office of Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., was found opened Thursday morning, aides said.

Staff members said there was no immediate sign whether any papers were stolen.

The steel and concrete safe was found open about 8:30 a.m. by William Wickens, the head of a special Watergate investigating team assembled by Weicker to conduct an independent investigation of the bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate hotel.

Weicker is a member of the special Senate Watergate investigating committee.

Wickens said he locked the safe at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, then "checked, double checked and triple checked" to make sure it was secure.

He said it is a possibility some of the documents could have been photographed.

He said another possibility was that someone was seeking to identify Weicker's sources of information.

Each file envelope was marked with the name of the source of the information inside, he said.

Minesweeping Suspended By U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The United States has suspended minesweeping operations off North Vietnam in an effort to force a halt to fighting in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

It also halted economic talks with the North Vietnamese in Paris and threatened to cut off proposed economic assistance for North Vietnam's postwar recovery. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington that unless Hanoi fully honors the Vietnam peace agreement, the Nixon administration will drop plans to ask Congress for reconstruction assistance.

While Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim spoke of the Communist side's failure to respect the unilateral cease-fire declared by the government of Cambodia as one reason for the minesweeping suspension, reports from Phnom Penh told of continuing attacks by Communist-backed forces.

A Phnom Penh dispatch said North Vietnamese-led troops again closed Highway 4. Phnom Penh's only link to the deepwater port of Kompong Som. The U. S.-built road had been reopened only 10 days ago. Cambodian forces were reported to have suffered heavy casualties, with at least 20 dead, 30 wounded and an undisclosed number missing.

All of the major roadways from Phnom Penh have been cut by North Vietnamese and insurgent Cambodian forces in an apparent drive to strangle Phnom Penh and force the collapse of the government of President Lon Nol.

The initial disclosure that the United States had halted the sweeping of mines came from the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry. A statement carried by Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency said the action was taken unilaterally two days before and the U. S. task force had withdrawn from the coast.

Several hours later, Friedheim confirmed that the operation had been suspended "because of continued cease-fire violations by the other side and failure to abide by the agreements and assurances of Paris."

Friedheim's statement also cited the continued flow of supplies from North Vietnam into South Vietnam.

The United States agreed in signing the Vietnam cease-fire agreement in Paris on Jan. 27 to remove the mines. They were seeded in North Vietnamese waters last May in retaliation of a North Vietnamese troop incursion into South Vietnam across the demilitarized zone that separates the two Vietnams.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said the U. S. suspension is evidence of a "premeditated" plan to prolong the sea blockade of North Vietnam.

"The government of the United States has deliberately retarded this work and until this day it has exploded only three mines of the tens of thousands it was responsible for neutralizing," the Foreign Ministry said.

The statement added that the action coincided with what it termed a violent U. S. escalation of the war in Cambodia and renewed air strikes in Laos on Monday and Tuesday.

It was the second time since the cease-fire took effect that the United States suspended the minesweeping operations. The first time was on Feb. 28 when North Vietnam balked at releasing American prisoners of war on the scheduled date. The issue was resolved in less than a week.

The North Vietnamese demanded that the United States "seriously apply" all the provisions of the Paris agreement and continue to fulfill its obligations in removing the mines.

This young female had a tooth extracted at the Seattle Marine Aquarium as the first step in the cure of a jaw infection, but before the yanking, David Mardin took closeup pictures of the trouble spot for a documentary on the rare event. Presumably, the out-sized tongue depressor was also used before the extraction.

End To Spending Rules On Sharing Funds Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon urged Congress Thursday to enact a program designed to permit local officials to spend community development funds free of federal interference.

Nixon sent Congress a measure, which would replace seven categorical grant programs administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development with a $2.3 billion-a-year program of shared revenues for cities, urban counties and states.

The President said in a March 8 message to Congress that the legislation would replace such "inflexible and fragmented" programs as Model Cities and Urban Renewal.

He said the special revenue sharing measure, first of four he plans to submit, also would "reduce the excessive federal control that has been so frustrating to local government."

"Rather than focusing and concentrating resources in a coordinated assault on a set of problems, the categorical system scatters these resources and diminishes their impact upon the most needy," Nixon said.

"Local officials should be able to focus their time, their resources and their talents on meeting local needs and producing results, instead of trying to please Washington with an endless torrent of paperwork," said Nixon.

The special revenue sharing legislation would end Urban Renewal, Model Cities, Neighborhood Facilities, Water and Sewer Grants, Open Space and Historic Preservation, Rehabilitation Loans and Public Facility Loans.

The measure would take effect July 1, 1974.

Funds already available will be used until then to maintain and support community development.

The proposed legislation provides that the funds be turned over directly to local governments.

If You're Lucky At Track, Beware! Internal Revenue May Be Watching

©The New York Times

By ELIZABETH M. FOWLER

New York — Now that spring is here — and with it the racing season — winners should beware. So should participants in state lotteries. The Internal Revenue Service may be watching.

In fact, the IRS apparently has launched a new campaign to snag bettors who try to evade taxes by not filing a return — Form 1099 — on winnings of more than $600.

Just last week there was a racetrack scandal in New York state which made it look as if the 10 per centers were at work, as usual. The name of the same bettor turned up on five forms filled out for winning tickets.

Ten per centers are people who, for 10% of the winnings, will cash a ticket, file a false tax form using false identification, and then turn over the 90% to the winning bettor. The winner thus thinks he has escaped the IRS.

Dogged Attempts

Just a few weeks ago the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the government's dogged attempts to punish two 10 per centers named Riley James Lincoln and Charles R. Norwid Jr.

The pair operated at the Palm Beach Kennel Club in Florida, where, the court commented, "dog races are held and betting spectators, we learn from the briefs, may win considerable sums of money."

In his opinion, concurred with by two other judges, Judge Homer Thornberry upheld charges of fraud and conspiracy against the two defendants. The two had lost their original case in U.S. District Court in Florida.

It was clearly shown that Norwid "conversed and associated with Mr. Lincoln at the race track," according to Judge Thornberry.

Furthermore, the judge said, Norwid would point out a winning ticketholder to Lincoln, who would then offer his services. Later he would report on the success of his effort to Norwid.

"On one occasion Norwid gave Lincoln a winning ticket, which the latter cashed illegally and received from him a portion of the proceeds," the court commented.

It upheld the convictions and sentences imposed on the two men. Norwid was fined $3,000 and given one-month concurrent sentences on three counts and probation for 17 months.

Lincoln, convicted on more counts, was fined $2,000 and sentenced to three months confinement, plus 18 months probation. Nothing was said about what action the IRS took against the winning ticketholders, however.

IRS More Vigilant
The professional 10 per centers are nothing new, but the IRS is apparently keeping a closer watch, and this week launched some special investigations, sparked by the recent New York scandal.

Thus winners should be careful and they should also think twice about persuading lower-income relatives or friends to fill out the forms and cash their tickets to help them keep taxes to a minimum.

The friends or relatives can get into some trouble, not to mention the winners.

House Defeats Tapping Road Fund For Transit

Washington (AP) — The House Thursday passed a $25.6 billion federal highway bill after defeating an administration-backed effort to tap part of the highway trust fund for mass transit.

The measure now goes to conference with the Senate, which has approved a provision for using funds for mass transit.

Final House passage of the three-year program came on voice vote.

The House rejected, 215 to 190, an amendment that would have allowed cities to spend $700 million in highway funds on the construction or purchase of bus and rail rapid transit lines.

Congressional sources said the House vote "gravely reduces" the chances that the Senate-passed amendment will survive the conference in its present form.

The vote caps more than a year of lobbying efforts which pitted a conglomerate of road builders, truck operators and automotive interests frequently categorized as the "highway lobby" against the administration and coalition of governors, mayors, environmentalists and transit groups.

The effort to open up the fund had been endorsed by President Nixon. But there were major defections in the Republican ranks as the vote broke along urban-rural rather than party lines.

The House bill would authorize significant expenditures for mass transit but not at the expense of the trust fund. Among other things, it would authorize $3 billion in general tax revenues for construction of rapid transit systems.

It would allow cities to turn back their share of the $700 million in highway funds designated for urban areas and spend an equal amount out of the general fund on a subway or bus system.

The House bill calls for spending $8 billion in trust fund revenues to complete the 42,500 mile interstate highway system by 1979. Other authorizations out of the trust fund include $1.1 billion a year for rural roads and an identical sum for highways in urban areas.

Proposal Opposed

Washington (UPI) — Nebraska's three Republican congressmen all voted against a proposal to allow cities to use highway trust funds for mass transit needs. The negative votes by Reps. Charles Thone, John Y. McCollister and Dave Martin came in a House vote Thursday.

Giant Moonshine Still Found

Jefferson City, Tenn. (UPI) — An elaborate, underground moonshine whisky still, believed the largest ever raided in the United States, has been found in the hill country near this quiet east Tennessee college town, it was announced Thursday.

Harold Eugene Butler, 40, and his wife, Alma Jean, 41, both of Cosby in nearby Cocke County, were arrested at the scene when agents from the Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms Division of the Treasury Department raided the illegal still.

The Butlers, who were charged with possession of an illegal whisky still and possession of moonshine, had been living in a new, two-bedroom mobile home on the wooded hillside where the operation was set up four or five months ago.

"It is the largest moonshine still ever found in Tennessee, and to our knowledge the largest ever found in the United States," said ATF Agent Charles Riddle.

The still was operated in an 18 by 12 foot, concrete block room built beneath a new red barn with black trim about eight miles southeast of this town, home of Baptist-supported Carson-Newman College.

"We estimate that it cost $30,000 to $40,000 to set up," Riddle said. "It obviously took a lot of planning to set up this operation." The cooking tank for the mash had a capacity of 15,277 gallons, and beside it were three 600-gallon, welded steel vats for drawing off the new whisky.

The concrete floor, partially covered with linoleum, was filled with cartons of plastic, one-gallon jugs, about half of them containing whisky.

Riddle said the still could produce about 400 gallons a day, valued on the street at $8 a gallon or $3,200 a day.

Riddle said this represented a tax fraud of $4,000 a day, figured at a rate of $10.50 a gallon in federal taxes.

8% Of Work Registrants On Welfare Given Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has found private jobs for only 8 per cent of the more than one million welfare recipients required by a new law to register for work, according to unpublished figures.

Federal officials say the program has not been more successful because of high unemployment, federal budget-cutting and lack of skills or ineligibility of those registered.

Of the 82,075 persons placed in these jobs between July 1, 1972, and March 31, 1973, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates that 60 per cent eventually will be removed from welfare rolls and that many of the others will have benefits reduced.

The Senate sponsor of the welfare law, the only major portion of President Nixon's ill-fated welfare reform program to be passed by Congress last year, has said stiffer enforcement could clean up more of what he called the "welfare mess."

"My amendment provides that those who are capable of work must register for work or job training and, if they fail to do either, then their welfare benefits are cut off," Sen Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., recently told constituents.

The conservative-backed law was designed to remove from welfare rolls some of the 11 million persons, including nearly eight million children, receiving Aid for Families with Dependent Children.

HEW and Labor Department figures show that 1,023,083 persons were registered for work or training during the last nine months. Under provisions of the Talmadge amendment to the six-year-old Work Incentive (WIN) program, they must register or lose their relief checks.

Activist Faculties Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faculty members may succeed students as the activists of the 1970s in the continuing conflict over who is to govern American colleges and universities, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education said Thursday.

"The 1960s were marked by student dissent and student organization. The 1970s may equally be marked by faculty dissent and faculty organization," the commission said. "The decade of the student may be followed by the decade of the faculty. The locus of activism is shifting."

The commission made this point in its latest report, "Governance of Higher Education: Six Priority Problems." The report was released at a news conference by Clark Kerr, commission chairman.

"Conflict within the campus and between the campus and society over the location of power may be more than a passing phase identified with the special problems of the late 1960s," the commission report said. "If it is it will be a continuing source of concern."

The report said the government by consensus that characterized U.S. higher education in the recent past had broken down under the pressures of rapid growth, demands of faculty and students for new roles in decision making, and increased efforts by governmental agencies to control and coordinate the system of higher education.

The greatest shift of power in recent years has taken place not inside the campus, but in the transfer of authority from the campus to outside agencies," the commission said.

Annual Rate Of Inflation Rises To 6%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation soared to an annual rate of 6 per cent and the country's economy spurred to near-record levels during the first quarter of the year, the government reported Thursday.

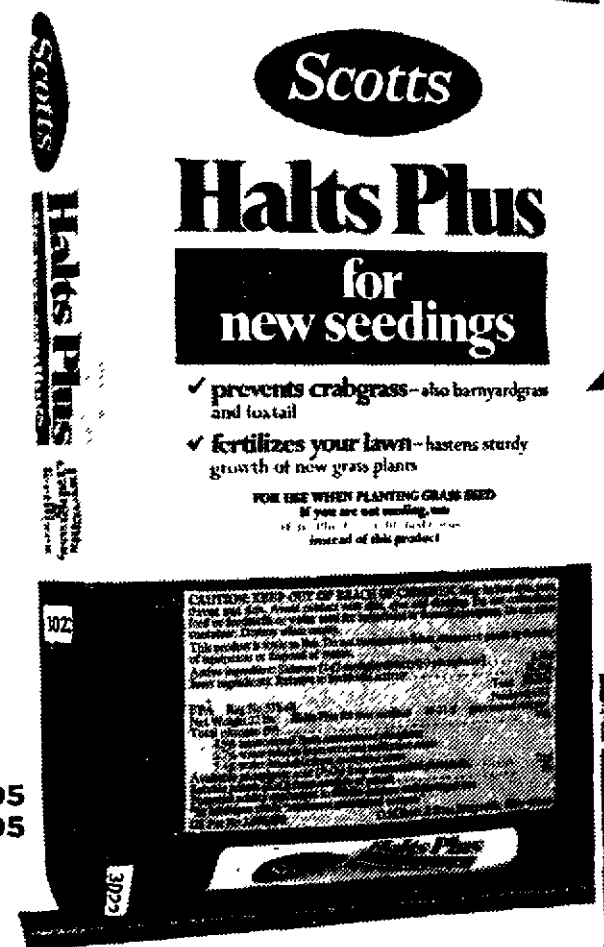

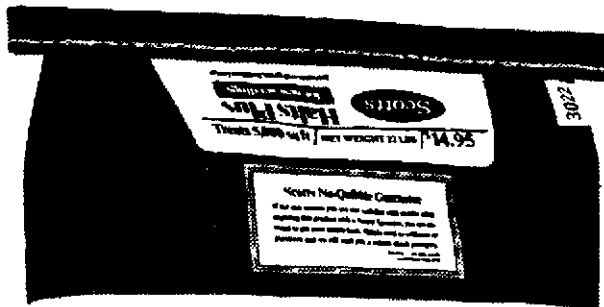

Economists warned that there are signs the economy is overheating and will have to be slowed down.

The gross national product—the total value of the country's output of goods and services—increased a record $40 billion from January through March to an annual growth rate of 14.3 per cent.

The GNP is increasing at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.235 trillion, the report said, compared to $1.164 trillion at the end of 1972.

Consumers were both buying more and paying more, the figures showed.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With all the talk about high food prices, maybe writers ought to serve up odds and ends on occasion to remain in the spirit of things. In that category today is the announcement that the old Western Electric Building at 13th and Q will be remodeled into a multi-level parking garage and retail center.

That makes a lot more sense to us than the apartment complex that was once contemplated for the structure by another developer. What the announcement brings to mind is that conditions have a way of feeding upon themselves.

Downtown Lincoln is enjoying a wave of new construction and confidence and once the ball gets to rolling in this direction, it picks up more and more momentum. Every new project that comes along seems to spark another until a wide variety of things are all in motion at the same time.

The same thing is true going in the opposite direction but, luckily, it is not happening at the moment anywhere in Lincoln. The city has no area where repeated failure has become a way of life, a firm pattern of the future.

Quite appropriately, one might include in any odds and ends discussion a little something about farmers. It was reported out of Washington that the Iowa Cattlemen's Association had been highly effective in stopping Congress from clamping a ceiling on food prices.

In the same story it talked about the possibility of the Iowa and Missouri Cattlemen's Association merging into a single organization that would include 20% of all the beef in the United States.

A New York congressman was quoted as having warned the citizenry in general to "hang on to your pocketbook" if such a merger takes place. His idea is that the Iowa-Missouri group could and would effectively control cattle prices.

But the group would not be putting a ceiling on prices, as the government has done. It would be putting a floor under them by withholding beef from market until the price had reached acceptable levels. This is precisely the way we believe agriculture is heading and no one seems to give a hang.

The clear intent of the Nixon administration is to eliminate all government farm programs, thereby putting agriculture strictly in the competition of the market place. That is going to mean survival of the fittest in farming.

Survival of the fittest will generally mean survival of the biggest, too, since it is in size that efficiency is the greatest. This trend toward biggest has been evident for years and a merger of Iowa and Missouri cattle interests would be only another step in that direction.

All of this is happening, not just with the acquiescence of the American people, but with their enthusiastic support. Surely, they really do not know what they are doing to themselves.

Urban citizens have for so long fought constructive farm programs that they now take their position for granted. Even some farm groups have gone this route, looking, of course, at a narrow special interest of which they would have a part when it is all done and over with.

We are killing off the family farm, killing off the diversified farmer and placing all our reliance upon consolidation and specialization. That is going to cost us dearly in terms of food prices in the years ahead but people in general either don't care about or understand this.

RICHARD L. WORSNOP Watergate Hearings May Hurt President

WASHINGTON — Nostalgia buffs insist that the 1950s were the golden age of television drama. By that they mean live drama engineered by such for modest talents as Rod Serling, Fred Coe and Paddy Chayevsky. And also by the late Sens Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.)

Serling, Coe and Chayevsky dealt in fiction. Kefauver and McCarthy, on the other hand, starred in real-life documentaries as the chairmen of Senate investigative panels. Few students of drama or of politics would dispute the argument that the Kefauver crime hearings of 1950-51 and the Army-McCarthy hearings of 1954 were among the most compelling presentations ever to appear on the home screen.

It is entirely possible that the forthcoming Senate hearings on the Watergate case will achieve similar renown. If so, one or more members of the seven-man investigating committee may attain national prominence. Some Washington observers already are comparing Sam J. Ely Jr. (D-N.C.), the committee's chairman, with Joseph L. Welch, the Army's counsel in the Army-McCarthy hearings. Welch's performance in 1954 later led to a movie role in "Anatomy of a Murder."

Kefauver was the first member of Congress catapulted to fame by television. The organized crime hearings over which he presided were estimated to have been viewed by 20 million persons — an astonishingly large number at a time when TV was in its infancy. One of the highlights was the appearance of Frank Costello, the reputed underworld king. He refused to have his face televised, so home viewers saw only his hands. Instead of spoiling the drama, the sight of Costello's fidgety fingers served to heighten it. When it was all over Kefauver found himself a leading candidate for the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination. As early as February of that year he was the second choice (after President Truman) for the nomination among Democrats and the first choice among independents.

But television can destroy political reputations, too, and that is what happened to McCarthy in 1954. "As a spectacle of a political character enacted before an audience, there has never anywhere been anything to match it," Richard Rovere wrote of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

While the hearings themselves were inconclusive, their effect on McCarthy was fatal. For 35 days, the public was able to watch the Wisconsin senator's bullying and bombast, and many viewers obviously did not like what they saw. A pre-hearings Gallup Poll of Jan. 15, 1954, reported that 50% of all Americans had a "favorable" opinion of McCarthy. A similar poll taken as the hearings drew to a close showed that only 34% held such an opinion.

President Nixon is well aware that congressional hearings can advance or blight a political career. As a freshman member of the House, Nixon attracted nationwide attention for his skillful cross-examination of Alger Hiss in 1948. And those hearings by the old House Committee on Un-American Activities were not even televised. But while Nixon won numerous admirers and went on to nationwide office, he also acquired a host of enemies. It hardly seems likely that the Watergate hearings can help the President. His task is to try to keep the damage to a minimum.

Easter Eggs

Nebraska's System Under Fire

Kevin Phillips, a generally conservative nationally-syndicated columnist who appears on this page regularly, believes the American two-party system has gone to pot and that a re-assertion of partisanship is necessary to save good government.

Writing out of Omaha this week, Phillips said that Minnesota and Nebraska, the last repositories of nonpartisanship government at the state level, are disenchanted with their own particular style of old-fashioned good government.

What may be true in Minnesota, which recently voted to change to a partisan legislature, may not be true in Nebraska, however.

Phillips said that "unlike Minnesota, Nebraska recently voted to keep nonpartisanship, but the margin was narrow and local observers think 'Unicam' is becoming such a joke that it cannot survive long in its present form." Into the vacuum created by the lack of party discipline on lawmakers, Phillips observes with a great deal of veracity, has jumped the lobbyist. And the lack of party identification he insists has fuzzed the electoral and legislative processes into ineffectiveness and disarray.

Whether or not the extraordinary lobbying activity and whatever ineffectiveness and disarray exists are products of the nonpartisan system can be argued at great length. What we would most like to do, however, is clear up some inaccurate notions that Phillips might have planted among his readers.

As Nebraskans should know they have not recently voted on the issue of a partisan legislature. The Unicameral session did kill a proposed constitutional amendment dealing with the subject, but partisanship in the Legislature has not been subjected to a state-wide voter test.

Both major parties are on record in favor of a partisan legislature, but they have been unable to obtain enough signatures to put the issue on the ballot by petition and they have been unable to push the proposal through the Legislature itself. "Unicam" may or may not be a joke, but a partisan legislature is hardly a burning issue of the day.

We think that by and large Nebraskans are still satisfied with the simplicity of their form of state government. There are good arguments for a partisan legislature, but we have a unique system that has worked fairly well here and Nebraskans approach the arguments with skepticism.

Phillips might well have checked with a few more sources before he wrote that Nebraska was on the verge of deserting nonpartisanship in the Legislature.

Energy Message Incomplete

As might have been expected, President Nixon's energy message pleased the oil industry, but was met with disappointment by consumer-oriented groups.

At first glance the President's policy appears to be fine as far as it goes. It is designed simply to increase the supply of oil and gas. It will, or should, stimulate exploration, construction and development within the domestic petroleum industry, and that is good. And it recognizes that energy costs will rise — and every American in his heart, knows that will be true.

But it doesn't go far enough. It doesn't acknowledge that Americans are energy gluttons. The regulation of the use of energy in the future, if there is to be any will be by price alone. And that price will be paid by the consumer while the industry continues to benefit from financial breaks.

So the President has moved to increase the supply of petroleum products but he has not used the powers of his office to do anything about decreasing or leveling off the demand.

If Nixon's energy policy does anything to avert an "energy crisis" in the near future, it will be only a temporary solution.

It might be oversimplifying things to predict that some time down the line some one will say "that's all there is folks" but we might well find ourselves in that kind of situation.

Some concrete guidance from the Oval Office might help.

Nixon Reaches Comeback Time

WASHINGTON — The President did it his way. He did not stand in front of the cameras, bruised and embittered, apologizing about Watergate, saying he was misled by his subordinates, or otherwise pushing an alibi. He neither submitted to cross-examination nor requested television time for a long explanation.

Instead, he wrote out his announcement read it in a cold, stern voice and left no doubt that he had stepped up to the situation and engaged it frontally.

The reaction is one of relief. Supporters of the President are happy to see him take charge and take action, critics of the President feel profoundly satisfied about their vigorous pursuit of the Watergate affair, but not many of them want to see the presidency itself splattered with mud. A few will gloat it told-you-so, and by their misreading of the public mind will help rally opinion behind the President.

Nixon has credentials as an investigator, long unused but still valid, like Thomas E. Dewey, that is how he first came on the scene. When this generation's version of Pumpkin Papers was laid before him, the president switched from loyalist to pursuer.

His statement — "I condemn any attempts to cover up" — was forceful and positive, the appropriate tone for the first confession statement he had had to make since 1962. Nixon showed he has learned a lot in a decade. Contrary to Churchill's admonition, he is neither magnanimous in victory nor defiant in defeat, but he has often shown himself to be a tower of strength in a crisis. Watergate is not a significant defeat but it was developing into one and the President moved in the nick of time.

Plenty of juicy headlines and personal tragedies lie ahead. Once a case begins to break, it breaks wide open, and when the President joins the press, the courts and the Senate in getting to the bottom of something, we can expect to hit new bottoms every day. A few points to keep in mind as the cloud named 'Watergate' finally begins to burst.

1. We wuz wrong. Our political enemies and media critics, from Larry O'Brien and Frank Mankiewicz to the Washington Post's Ben Bradlee and Philip Geyelin, were right to keep the heat on the Watergate, who worked at the White House, who were certain that nobody at a responsible level could be so stupid, now appear likely to be proven mistaken. Hats off to you fellows for hanging in there, which is more than any of you ever said to any of us when the President's bombing of Hanoi brought the North Vietnamese back to the negotiating table.

2. No Dolchostosslegende can be made out of the Watergate. There was no "stab in the back" that changed the course of history in any of this. Nixon would have swamped McGovern with no help from zealots, indeed, the Watergate incident provided Democrats with their only useful 1972 campaign issue.

3. Not every hardball is a beanball. Let's wait and see if a connection is proven between the Watergate crime and other political activity that may be shady but is not criminal. Let's also watch out for ex post facto morality, condemning tactics in the most recent campaign that were tacitly condoned in other campaigns. We would be better off without such hardball but we should not pretend it never existed.

4. Beware of linkage. The word in this unfolding story that should concern civil libertarians is "linked" — "so-and-so linked to Watergate." Linked by what, linked according to whose sworn first-hand testimony?

Campus Conflict Ahead

The colleges and universities who believed they were over the years of conflict have another round of it coming, if the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education is to be believed.

And, interestingly enough, the Carnegie folks say the greatest shift of power which will be around for a long time has been a transfer of authority from the campuses to outside agencies, such as coordinating commissions and legislatures.

"Particularly over the past decade, there have been more coordinating councils and superboards created at the state level and there has been more gubernatorial and legislative investigation and intrusion into internal campus affairs," the commission said in a report issued Thursday afternoon in Washington.

Although Nebraska has yet to establish a coordinating agency, the fact that there's been more intrusion into campus affairs by legislatures is no news to the state's higher education institutions.

Such intrusion sparked some complaints last week from the graduate council at the University of Nebraska, for example, and from the graduate dean.

Both the council and the dean, Norman Cromwell, were upset over the possibility that the Legislature might set a timetable for elimination of some graduate programs and then demand their removal before releasing funds for program improvement.

Although NU President D. B. Varner says that's the sort of directive the university ought not argue about, since the regents have said NU will do it anyway, it's still evidence that the Legislature is thinking of inserting its budgetary authority into the academic decision-making process.

There are other examples too. One is the detail that is included in the bill creating an institute for agriculture and natural resources. The bill contains far more detail on administrative matters than would be consistent with a legislative hands-off attitude on the internal affairs of the university.

Another example was the legislative investigation early in the year into the decision at the Omaha campus of NU to let the contract of a professor expire without reappointment.

Here's what the Carnegie Commission, in "Governance of Higher Education: Six Priority Problems," says about such matters.

"...the commission recommends that state grants to institutions for general support should be based on broad formulas and no line-item control."

"Academic policies set by state agencies should be of a broad nature... and should not interfere with the more specific professional academic judgments about faculty appointments, courses of study, admission of individual students, grades and degrees for individual students, specific research projects, appointments of academic and administrative staff and leadership and protection of academic freedom."

The report also recommends that faculty members, students and alumni should have some role in nominating some governing board members, but says faculty members and students have no place on the boards of institutions where they are enrolled or employed.

That reference is directed to the states where governing board members are appointed, rather than elected, but it is relevant to the student drive to get a seat on the NU Board of Regents via constitutional amendment.

Here are some of the other sources for conflict that the Carnegie Commission sees in the 1970s.

—increased faculty discontent and faculty organization, efforts toward which are seen in higher education in Nebraska now.

—a resurgence of the student drive for more power in campus decision-making.

—crisis-sparked decision-making.

The commission says that state laws should permit collective bargaining in higher education, but it cautions unions and universities to approach contract coverage with restraint, leaving academic affairs in the hands of traditional bodies, such as faculty senates.

It says tenure should be retained but it urges safeguards against abuse of the system of continuous appointment granted after probationary periods.

Students says the commission, must be included in governance arrangements to provide them a voice in important campus issues and "adequate academic options from which to choose. Students should be involved in performance evaluation of teachers and departments the commission says.

The report also urges that the independence of governing boards be protected.

And finally it says universities and colleges should be prepared for emergency situations, instituting a campus bill of rights and responsibilities, establishing communication systems for crises and setting up adequate grievance procedures.

Nothing in the report ought to be new to the campuses, but it ought to remind them that without adequate planning in such matters the years ahead may contain sources for unnecessary disruption of the learning process.

Sports Coverage

Lincoln, Neb. I am writing in regard to Hal Brown's column of April 11, on his answer to the Beatrice girls' coach, Cheri Petrillo.

Mr. Brown's answer is disgusting, to say the least. From past experience and observation, his statement confirmed what I already suspected — that his negative attitudes towards girls and women definitely interfere with objective reporting. To hold such sexist attitudes is certainly his privilege, however, they should not be perpetuated through his position as sports editor. One does not have to be an expert to observe his biased manner of reporting.

If boys' sports have such a monopoly on the sports section, perhaps it should be labeled as such. I.e. Men's Sports Section. I can understand Mr. Brown's need to write for public interest, which in the past has been mainly related to boys' and men's sports. He also has a responsibility to inform the public, however, and Star readers do have daughters involved in athletics. It is sad that although girls and women comprise half the population we must still plead for adequate sports coverage.

Mr. Brown should know that we all have to adjust to changing trends — that is if we wish to exist among those trends. Perhaps it is time for him to re-examine his own goals and objectives and be sure he is not using the newspaper as an instrument for his personal views.

His ideas of "femininity" are extremely narrow and leave much to be desired. Maybe he was right however when he stated that a home economics class would be more beneficial than learning to throw a discus or put a shot. It is definitely time the boys learned to flip their own panakes anyway.

Disorderly Sprawl

Lincoln, Neb. Our planning boards need to take a new fresh look at Lincoln. The people of northeast Lincoln need to make themselves heard via petitions and elections to get some action on that part of the city. We hear remarks about "suburban sprawl" and orderly development at the same time such sprawl is allowed to continue in a very disorderly fashion far south of Highway 2. We have Holmes Park and golf course for the southeast, Pioneers Park and golf course for the southwest, lake parks for the northwest. Northeast there is nothing even though we have the old agronomy farm for such a development. As I understand it, IBM has just an option on the northeast land, and although this is the type of industry we should make effort to attract, we are doing nothing to make it appealing to them.

The Northeast Radial is getting the cart before the horse. Do we need a radial costing $30 million to an area where development is refused? This money, combined with the amount planned to build an addition to the Theresa Street sewage plant, should build the much needed plant for the Stevens Creek area and enable the completion of plans for the agronomy farm. I'm not an engineer, but there must be some area in our topography

Mollie

Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Amelia Bitter sits at the table next to me here at Tabitha Home. I call her "Mollie" but our Mollie is not bitter, she is sweet and lovable. So I call her "Mollie Bitter-Sweet."

She her mother and only brother fled Russia to America the land of the brave and the true. So let's keep it that way working and worshipping God.

And work they did. The first English they learned was work. They worked in the beet fields of Colorado. And like Mollie, others came from every foreign country — Swedes, Danes and from the other Scandinavian provinces, and Germans, Greeks and Irish — to build our churches and our schools, to educate our children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, to fight our wars and to make America the great nation it is today.

Mollie was married at Rocky Ford, Colorado, in 1911. God gave them three children, two girls and a boy. The father died when the oldest girl was about 16, and Mollie worked in the Stuart Building for 35 years. Her only son entered the service at 19, and died before he had hardly had time to live. He gave his life for his mother's adopted country. We owe all these brave people so much who have fought our wars to save America.

Mollie is at Tabitha now because of a stroke, but she is still brave.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) New deal necessary if you are to get most from investment potential. Leo is involved. Male partner wants to talk about who owns what — be cooperative but not foolish. Get good grip on possessions.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Lie Low. You tend now to be too idealistic. It is best to wait until a more practical view prevails. Otherwise, you will be giving up something for nothing. Think of future and security. Check property value.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Sense of humor now equals sense of fitness. Laughter serves as valuable tonic. One who makes dire threats is really foolish and should be derided. Accent is on work, health, relationships with those who share your interests.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Accent is on how to hold together what is of value. Tendency is for others to want their way despite lack of knowledge. Open line of communication which aims at truth. Gemini person can be an asset.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Promises may not mean much at this time. Be gracious. But also strive to be realistic about family situation. Adjustment is necessary. Taurus could be featured. Good intentions are not enough. Strengthen bargaining position.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Gift purchase appears to be on agenda. Effort to be practical seems doomed. Enjoy beauty. See situation as it exists. You receive compliment from one who is romantically inclined. Bask in warmth of affection.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Aspects are such that you see as if looking through a rose glow. Cycle is high but tendency toward self-deception does exist. Study Scorpio message. Accepting added responsibility will result in ultimate gain.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can make some fantasies work. Some of your secret desires can be transformed into realities. Key now is overall view. It is possible now for you to see beyond the immediate. You can perceive potential.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) What you invest in results in profit. Success can come in most unorthodox manner. You are re-evaluated. Core of returns. You are loved. And you know it. Strive to improve your own style. Don't imitate.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 19) What others might regard as impractical can be for you. Know it and proceed accordingly. You can make a difference. Work back. Financial situation also is improving. It's straight ahead.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY You are sensitive and sensitive. You have innate dramatic ability. You are attractive to opposite sex. September should be your most significant month of 1973. You are making a comeback from previous setback. Financial situation also is improving. It's straight ahead.

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Louis Robertson, vice chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, announced Thursday he has submitted his resignation to President Nixon.

He said his resignation would be effective "no later than the end of April." His letter of resignation was dated March 19, but there was no explanation why it was not announced earlier.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplaine

San Francisco — A good year for rain and what's good about rain is good for cattle business. The longer cows stay on God's green grass (instead of expensive feed) the more the rancher likes it.

Nonetheless, the price of beef goes up and up and up.

We stayed with the meat boycott for a week. Then we slunk back to hamburgers.

I found out all about rain and grass and the price of beef the Year of the Terrible Drought. It hadn't rained for days and days.

The editor said: "Go around the countryside. Get the impact of this catastrophe. I want a story in depth."

I liked that. When they say "in depth" you can go pretty wide open on the expense account.

"Old age never killed anybody." So says a doctor whose specialty is propping up tottering gaffers. He says what pops you off in your prime at 100 years is only side effects.

When we whip the side effects of the years, everybody will live to be 150. The doc says it's inevitable.

What he does worry about is — "There will be a calamity of longevity. What will we do when work is not necessary for the larger part of the population?"

The calamity of no work has never struck me. However, I'm working on what to do at 125 years of age — I ought to be able to quit by then.

I guess you sit around with other irritable gaffers. Thinking up new irritated philosophical statements.

"Believe me, Cal Coolidge would've known what to do with these young whippersnappers!" (I expect the young whippersnappers will be 90.)

Or, "They don't make a decent glass of beer like they used to."

The Great Drought went on. I went down and stayed with a rancher. All night I could hear a cow mooing mournfully. I made a note of that: "Starving Cow Moos Mournfully."

The rancher said: "Oh, that old cow was dropping a calf last night. They always make a little noise."

I went on to another ranch. They taught me about rain and grass and beef. They also taught me a local brand of poker — deuces and seven wild. I was glad I had an expense account.

I drove on. It started to rain. It rained for seven days and seven nights. The country was flooded out. Two of my expense account items were: "Tow truck to get pulled out of the mud."

The Great Drought Story was drowned out before I could get started.

Time to keep up with the times. A British computer began spitting out all kinds of silly answers.

Well, science was baffled — as we say in the journals.

Finally they found the computer was most uptight when a certain girl passed by. They examined the girl. Found she was wearing nylon panties.

Science then reported: "A certain amount of static electricity builds up in nylon. It disturbs the computer's concentration."

State ASCS To Study Fuel, Fertilizer Needs

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Nebraska's state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) at long last has an official state committee to guide its operation of federal farm programs.

Normally the committee begins its operations on or shortly after January 1. However, delays in getting the new committee appointed have delayed its first meeting approximately three and a half months.

The new committee named by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz includes J. Stanley Dodson of Curtis as chairman, Willard D. Heyne of Uehling and Robert S. Phillipson of Bloomington.

Dodson, 59, has served on the state committee since August 1971. He operates a 1,380-acre dryland farm south of Maywood. Phillipson, 48, owns and operates 2,500 acres of farm and ranch land in Franklin and Furnas counties, has a 600 cow herd and has operated a livestock auction business for 18 years.

An important factor in the

Phillipson

Dodson

committee's first meeting is a decision to undertake a study of the state's fuel and fertilizer problems. Both fuel and fertilizer supplies in the state are short of the anticipated need.

The committee is asking that farmers and fuel suppliers advise local ASCS committees in their counties of any known or anticipated local shortages of fuel and fertilizer by Friday of this week. The date gathered will be compiled at the state level and communicated to USDA officials in Washington.

No Direct Power
Paul Sindt, state executive director of the ASCS, admitted that the federal agency has no direct power to allocate fuel and fertilizer but suggested that there were still ways the agency could influence distribution.

"We need to identify problem areas and then locate supplies in areas where they are not needed. We can exert considerable pressure to have supplies moved from surplus areas to deficit areas. Obviously we cannot order people to produce supplies that don't exist, but we can aid in moving existing supplies to deficit areas," he said.

Committee members declined to discuss specific agricultural program policy matters other than in general terms at their first meeting.

Avoid Surpluses
Dodson did suggest that he was willing to accept a phasing out of farm programs provided that farmers were guaranteed access to the export market in order to avoid price depressing surpluses.

The committee also expressed a willingness to seek a contract for the state ASCS to operate a new Rural Environmental Assistant Program (REAP) if the state should decide to fund any portion of the now defunct federal program.

Car Crash Takes Life Of Woman

Omaha (UPI) — The collision of two cars in North Omaha Wednesday night claimed the life of a Council Bluffs, Iowa, woman and caused injuries to three members of her family.

Killed was Mrs. Lyne Holmes of Council Bluffs. Her 46-year-old husband, Milo, and their son, Carl, 12, were listed in good condition at Immanuel hospital. Their daughter, seven-year old Kimberly, was in fair condition in Lutheran hospital.

Omaha police said the Holmes car was in collision with one driven by George Archer, 37, Omaha. He was being held without bond on suspicion of motor vehicle homicide. Officers said Archer also was booked on suspicion of driving on a suspended license and for refusal to take a blood test.

Burglars Hit 5 Albion Shops

Albion, Neb. (AP) — Albion police reported five commercial establishments were burglarized early Thursday morning.

Police said losses and damage to two beauty shops, a barber shop, a cafe and furniture store had not been determined.

Candidates To Talk

The Home Builders Association of Lincoln will hold a general membership meeting 6:30 Monday at the East Hills Supper Club. Lincoln school board candidates will speak.

Judge Places Sheriff On 1 Year Probation

Omaha (AP) — Sarpy County Sheriff Richard Whitted Jr., who pleaded guilty in November to a federal charge of perjury, was placed on one year probation Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge Richard E. Robinson.

Robinson said he was suspending imposition of sentence. On the question of whether Whitted should continue as sheriff, the judge said he did not consider it his responsibility to determine any possible malfeasance in office in Sarpy County.

U.S. District Atty. William Schaphorst said "if the court is inclined to place Whitted on probation, he should be required to resign as sheriff."

Whitted, when asked if he intended to resign, replied: "I'm not entertaining that idea."

He said after the proceedings he was "very glad this matter has come out as it did ... I'm glad that it's over."

Husker Air Guardsmen Take Off For Texas

Pilots and technicians of the 155th Tactical Reconnaissance Group stationed at Lincoln will be among 150 Nebraska Air National Guardsmen to take part in "Exercise Gallant Hand," a joint military exercise at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Part of the Nebraska Contingent prepares to board the giant Military Airlift Command C141 Thursday for the flight to Dyess Air Force Base in Texas. Six of the Lincoln unit's RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jets will leave Friday.

Kramer Power Plant May Close

Columbus (UPI) — The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) said Thursday it may have to close down its Kramer power station at Bellevue next year. But without an alternate source of power, the closing could trigger "serious deficits" in power supplies during the next several years.

Dr. Eric Sloth, NPPD environmental manager, said the closing of the Kramer power station was one of the main alternatives being considered by the NPPD board of directors. Either the plant will be closed or Sloth said more than $2 million will have to be spent to meet the particulate emission standards to keep the plant operational.

Sloth said the Kramer problem resulted from a denial by the state department of environmental control last month for a variance to operate the station until October of 1979. The state has contended that the dust collectors at the station, installed in 1972, were insufficient to meet current state air emission regulations.

"In order to meet this criteria," Sloth said, "NPPD would have to install additional collection devices that would cost the district in excess of $2 million."

"This expenditure," he said, "would be an unnecessary burden on taxpayers, particularly in view of the district's contention that the air quality standard for particulates is being met in the Bellevue area."

If the Kramer plant cannot operate beyond 1973, Sloth said

NPPD would be "faced with the task of finding additional power to replace the loss of this important power source."

"Alternatives could include the purchase of power from another utility or the construction of a new generating plant," Sloth said. "Currently, there appears to be no extra power available for purchase from another source."

In addition he said construction

tion of a new steam plant would require about seven years. Although gas turbines could be constructed in a shorter time, the availability of fuel "such as gas and oil is uncertain."

Sloth said the state has directed NPPD to submit before April 30 a compliance schedule for the Kramer plant which would put the 113 megawatt station within particulate emission standards by June 5, 1973.

Jury Says Trooper Innocent In Shooting

Neligh, Neb. (AP) — An Antelope County jury Thursday found State Trooper Roy Van Winkle innocent of a misdemeanor charge of assault and battery. Van Winkle was charged in connection with the shooting of former police officer Robert Block last Dec. 8.

Van Winkle testified earlier in the day that he fired at Block after Block "reached for his gun," in the basement of the stairwell of the Antelope County jail.

The trial opened Wednesday. Van Winkle testified he pursued Block with his red lights flashing after Block had been clocked at 77.6 miles per hour through a speed check three miles north of Elgin.

Van Winkle said he stopped Block near the airport and then again at the county jail in Neligh. He told Block to stop. Van Winkle testified the reply from Block was "I'll not stop for the likes of you."

Van Winkle told the jury he then told Block to stop again when he reached the bottom of the stairwell. Block didn't answer and Van Winkle said Block then turned "and reached for his gun."

He then told the court, "I raised my gun and fired."

Trooper Van Winkle said he took Block's gun from its holster and it was not fastened by a strap. Later he said he did not recall if Block's holster had a strap.

Earlier law enforcement officials from Pierce, Plainview, Oakdale, and Norfolk testified Van Winkle was neither violent nor aggressive.

However, they told the court

they had known Block to be violent and aggressive.

Plainview Police Chief Leonard Guinn testified Block was "hot tempered and fast to act."

Bestmann and Gress appeared before Magistrate Richard W. Peterson in Council Bluffs Wednesday. Bestmann was released on $10,000 bond and Gress on $5,000 bond.

Cedar Creek Bridge Collapses

Beatrice — The 76-foot bridge over Cedar Creek on the Holmesville road, southeast of Beatrice, collapsed under a heavily loaded Beatrice Concrete gravel truck, the Gage County sheriff's office reported. Driver of the truck, Joe Schneider, 61, escaped injury. The momentum of the truck carried it over the falling bridge, and only its back wheels crashed into the concrete abutment, an investigation showed. Gage County Highway Engineer Lester Henderson, who inspected the bridge, said it would take at least 90 days to replace the span.

Iowans Nabbed By FBI

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Omaha says two Shelby, Iowa, neighbors were arrested Wednesday in connection with the theft and illegal purchase of livestock.

An FBI spokesman said 32-year-old Lee L. Bestmann, a farmer, and 38-year-old Anthony F. Gress, a construction worker, were arrested after a federal grand jury returned two-count indictments against each on Tuesday.

Bestmann, charged with interstate transportation of stolen checks used to purchase livestock, was arrested on a Pottawattamie County farm. Gress, arrested at Shelby, is charged with interstate transportation of stolen livestock from Iowa to Nebraska and with receiving and concealing those livestock.

The FBI said Bestmann is accused of using two stolen checks one taken from a locker room at the Omaha Stockyards and the other from a locker room at an Omaha YMCA, to purchase livestock at the Messina, Iowa, Livestock Auction Oct. 24.

Officials said the check stolen from a hog buyer at the stockyards was for $2,183 and was used to purchase 18 sows, three heifers and three calves. The other, which belonged to a man not associated with the livestock industry, was for $736 and purchased four heifers.

The spokesman said the charge against Gress involved cattle stolen from Decatur County, Iowa, in either December or January.

The FBI said investigation indicates there apparently is no connection between the two cases.

Funding Bill To Aid Bellevue Schools

Washington (UPI) — Nebraska Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis, along with Rep. John McCollister, noted "with great pleasure" the congressional passage Wednesday afternoon of an urgent supplemental appropriations bill.

Tuesday, Hruska and Curtis cosponsored an amendment to the bill which would give President Nixon authority to appropriate an additional $85 million under a continuing resolution to provide severely impacted school districts with the necessary funds for the 1972-73 school year.

The amendment was designed to permit release of additional money to those schools that suffer serious military impact — such as Bellevue, Neb. A conference of both the House and Senate reached agreement Tuesday evening and the amendment was retained.

Should the President sign the bill and release the money, it would mean the Bellevue School District would not suffer financial losses that would have occurred under the earlier cut in impacted aid funds. The district stood to lose $1.6 million.

Passage of the amendment would reduce this potential loss substantially.

The three Republicans said any delay in releasing the funds would be "unpardonable."

They said it is hoped the administration will take a closer look in the future at the burden imposed on districts adjacent to military installations.

Bellevue Faces Deficit Despite New Fund Bill

BELLEVUE, Neb. (AP) — Bellevue School District Supt. Richard Triplett says a House and Senate conference committee's amendment to the impact aid program is a substantial improvement.

However, the district would still face a $200,000 to $250,000 deficit in its current budget, Triplett says. He adds that he is sure efforts will be made to pick that up.

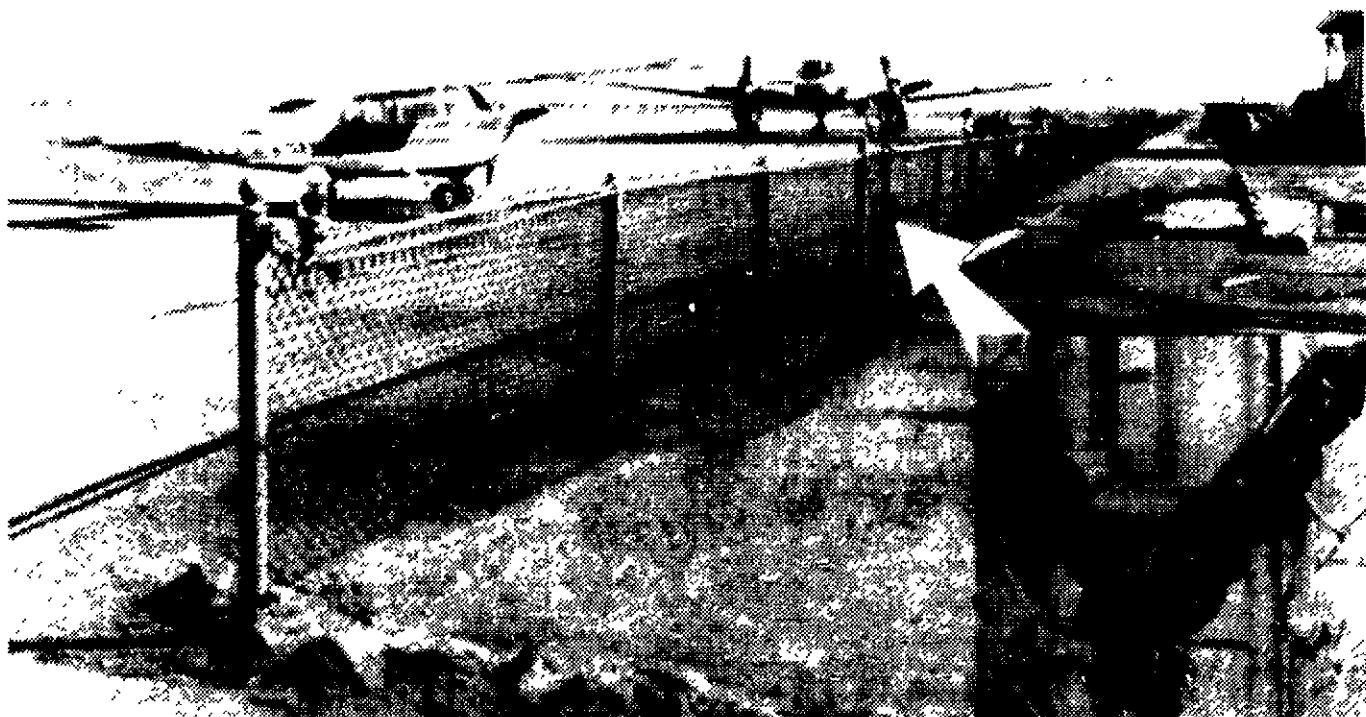

He says the school district faces "an impossible position" next year under the President's recommendations.

Triplett says President Nixon has recommended funding only for dependents of military personnel who live on military installations and that would take about $1 million out of the impact aid that the district receives.

The $1 million plus the deficit this year would constitute at least 25 mills, based on the district's current assessed valuation.

The Bellevue School District has an assessed valuation of about $47 million compared with $145 million for School District 66 in Omaha which has only a slightly smaller enrollment.

Railroad Museum Gets Park Board Approval

Relocation of an old railroad depot in Havelock Park for use as a railroad museum is one step closer with the Park and Recreation Board's endorsement of the project Thursday.

The board recommended that the mayor approve the Havelock Business Association's request to put a railroad museum on the former Havelock library site.

However, that action came only after Parks and Recreation Director Don Smith and several board members voiced reservations about the proposal.

Field Trip
At last month's meeting the board delayed action on the request pending a field trip to the site to get a first hand look at the area.

Roger Thomas, president of the association, said a Burlington Northern depot would house the museum, which would include railroad artifacts, pictures and tapes.

In addition, he said a small meeting room would be included for use by civic groups and retired railroad employees.

No admission fee would be charged.

Ideal Location
Thomas contended that the site would be an ideal location for a museum due to the park's proximity to the Havelock business district, the school and the high rise for the elderly now under construction.

Volunteers would staff the museum, he said, with the association providing for all maintenance.

Smith said he had "mixed emotions" about the proposal, adding that his past experience with volunteers has not always been satisfactory. He also voiced concern over possible liability to the city if the facility is allowed on park property.

Long range plans call for construction of tennis courts on the site.

However, Board Chairman Clancy Woolman said the tennis courts could be moved to Ballard Park, which already has a swimming pool and baseball diamond.

"By moving the courts, we'll have a real sports complex there," he said.

Retired People
City Councilwoman Helen Boosalis and board member Max Roper agreed that many retired people live in the area, who would get a lot of use out of the park.

"I don't see what we have to lose," she said.

Board member Ralph Gielbelhaus said he thought the project was a good idea — but that perhaps the museum would be better off on private property.

When several other board members raised questions about the advisability of the project, Roper lashed out. "We went on that trip and told you our opinions."

"We might as well have stayed home," he said.

In other action the board received petitions signed by more than 200 Salt Valley View residents requesting that the board buy school property in the area for use as a neighborhood park.

Joe Connelly, 1218 Clearview, asked the board if some arrangement could be made with the Board of Education so that residents could use a portion of the 12-acre tract for a playground this summer.

The board recommended that Connelly go to the Board of Education to get permission to use the area. If permission is granted, the board said the Park Department could provide some playground equipment.

Smith said, "We don't have anything in this area."

School Property
The school property, which is currently an alfalfa field, is located north of Old Cheney Rd. and is bounded on the north by Starview Ln. and on the west by Limestone Rd.

The board also directed Smith to look into the purchase of a park site in the Salt Valley View area.

In other business Superintendent of Recreation Dick Leker reported that Woods pool will open to the public on May 26, with the remaining city pools opening on June 1.

Superintendent of Parks Dick Hilligus said that there was $498 in reportable vandalism in city parks during the month of March.

County Faces Potential Flood Problem

The greatest potential of flooding in the past 10 years is faced by Lancaster County area residents this year.

According to Hal Schroeder of Salt Valley Watershed District, speaking at a meeting of agencies concerned with flooding in the area, people should be especially alert because of the high potential of flooding as the basic flood period of May, June and July is entered.

"From a moisture deficient condition to an excess moisture condition, brought about by slow, steady rains, with the ground saturated, farm ponds and field terraces full, flood storage structures all full and now releasing water," a substantial problem exists, he said.

He also noted that there is an added hazard of dead trees because any over-bank condition will carry many limbs and trunks of timber down stream.

Gordon Lippert of the Lincoln office of the National Weather Service urged anyone observing roads or areas being covered with water to report the information through the county sheriff's office.

He noted with the excessive amount of moisture the area has had prior to the regular flooding season, the channels which normally could handle between five and eight inches of moisture could flood now with only two to three inches.

Strike At Goodyear Could Begin Friday

If the United Rubber Workers (URW) Local 286 strikes Lincoln's Goodyear belting and hose plant, it will most likely happen at 11 p.m. Friday, when the shift changes, Goodyear and union officials said Thursday.

Gordon Hein, acting personnel manager, said he has received no word yet from personnel manager Paul Ess, who is in Cincinnati, Ohio, negotiating for renewal of the URW-Goodyear master contract that expires at midnight Friday.

Young Resigns Press Position

Lyle A. Young, manager of the Nebraska Press Association and Nebraska Press Advertising Service, has announced his resignation, effective May 15.

Before coming to Nebraska in 1969, he was general manager of the Idaho Press Association for 14 years and prior to that he was publisher of a weekly newspaper in Texas for five years.

A native of Perry, Iowa, he is a graduate of the William Allen White School of Journalism at the University of Kansas.

He has not announced his future plans.

Local URW vice president Bob Wallen said he has learned no details of the talks' progress from union president Lloyd T. Worley, representing Local 286 in the negotiations that began March 12.

"We figure it'll go down to the wire," Wallen said, noting he expects a call from Worley about 11 p.m. Friday.

If an agreement produces renewal of the master contract, then negotiations would begin locally at every Goodyear plant.

Should the union strike, Hein said it wouldn't affect the Lincoln plant until Tuesday. "We'll be shutting down for the weekend and we have a holiday Monday" for Easter, he said.

Wallen said the more than 1,550 URW members are "not getting overly anxious" anticipating a strike. But he said if the decision is made to strike Lincoln's plant, "We'll start picketing immediately."

A strike would affect about 1,880 Lincoln employees and all Goodyear workers world-wide. The International URW, an AFL-CIO affiliate, announced earlier that a strike would also be accompanied by an international boycott of Goodyear products.

'Everything You Do Is Political'

Friday, April 20, 1973 The Lincoln Star 9

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The executive producer of a popular black-oriented public television program told students here Thursday they should be reminded that "everything you do is political."

"You have a responsibility to change things as best you can," said Ellis Haizlip, producer of "Soul."

As an example, he said, "You don't buy 'Ebony' because it's not militant enough, but you read 'Time.'"

Name Two To Board At Bryan

Two new members have been named to the Bryan Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees. They are Mrs. Jerome Druliner, a Lincoln housewife, and James W. Bradley, Malcolm, Neb., chairman of the board, Kings Food Host USA.

Re-elected to the board were Vance D. Rogers, Nebraska Wesleyan University; William C. Smith, First National Bank; and Robert E. Swett, Bankers Life of Nebraska. The new members and those re-elected will serve three-year terms beginning June 1.

All Board of Trustees' officers were re-elected as follows: chairman of the board, James W. Hewitt, Abel Construction Co.; vice-chairman, Robert P. Durrie, Magee's; president, Eugene G. Edwards, Bryan Memorial Hospital; secretary, Roger T. Larson, KFOR Broadcasting Co.; and treasurer, Robert E. Swett, Bankers Life of Nebraska.

In other action, the Board of Trustees approved an expansion project involving the visitors parking lot on the east side of the hospital. The expansion will allow 50 more parking spaces and is expected to be completed by late spring.

IBEW Plans Food Caravan For Strikers

Although an International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Local 1536 official said Thursday a third negotiating session with Square D Co. might take place "the latter part of April," plans were made anyway for another food caravan to support the striking union in May.

Jeff Ditzler, IBEW chairman, said Nels Petersen of Omaha, state AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, sent a letter Tuesday to all AFL-CIO affiliates in Nebraska.

Ditzler said the letter announced the food caravan will be held Saturday, May 19, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Labor Temple, 4625 Y. The first food caravan staged March 31 by the union drew about 150 cars.

Square D Plant Manager Thomas H. Brown said Thursday he had received no word about further negotiations. The last session was held Feb. 14.

Brown also said he could not release the number of employees now working at the plant, struck by the IBEW since Jan. 25, but informed sources said production was back to normal with three shifts.

The source said most workers are back to normal eight-hour shifts, after working overtime shifts regularly to maintain production during the time the plant was short-staffed.

"You have to begin a process of selectivity," he said, paying attention to the political ramifications in the choices. "If you buy a newspaper without regard to its editorial content you are supporting that newspaper," he noted. And he said, "People turn on the television without any regard to what is on" and without taking the time to write a letter to complain about programs they don't like.

Haizlip was in Lincoln for an appearance at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln black arts festival. A Washington, D.C., native, he now lives in New York.

Talking to a small group, mostly black students, Haizlip told them they also have a "special responsibility as a student."

Unique Chance
"You have a unique chance of studying at a prestigious university," he said. "You can do something."

He said two major problems are now facing the black community, and he identified them as drug abuse and "care of women."

He said drug use and male homosexuality in the black community are threatening to mark the end of the "black nation," raising the prospect that blacks may one day lose their identity the way he said American Indians have.

There are "too many sisters without men," he said. "There has to be some protection of the black woman."

Own Background
Haizlip interspersed his comments with a bit of his own background and remarks about aspects of black culture, describing the role he believes black artists are playing in film, music and sports.

He also said he owes a debt to the blacks who rebelled in the cities several years ago and the white students who died at Kent State University, because those events made possible the production of a program such as "Soul" aimed at the black community.

During a question-and-answer period, Haizlip said there's been no assurance yet that "Soul" will be fully refunded for next year.

But he said the program could be produced anyway if it became a priority of stations around the country willing to support it.

"The receipts from the football games at the University of Nebraska would produce more than enough money to produce 'Soul,'" he said.

Conducted by Leo Kopp, the Orchestra will perform the "Concerto For Seven Wind Instruments, Timpani Percussions and String Orchestra" by Martin. Soloists for the selection, which will be performed in three movements — Allegro, Adajietto and Allegre Vavace — include Constance White and Ruth Dann, flutes; Robert O'Boyle, oboe; Wesley Reist, clarinet; Gary Echols, bassoon; Bill Sprague, French horn; Dennis Schneider, trumpet; Vernon Forbes, trombone; and Albert Rometo, timpani.

The 8 p.m. concert program will also include the overture to "The School For Scandal" by Barber; "Symphony In B Flat Major, No. 1, Opus 38" by Schumann; and the performance of Respighi's symphonic poem, "The Pines of Rome," which will include "The Pines of Villa Borghese," "The Pines Near a Catacomb," "The Pines of Janiculum," and "The Pines of the Apian Way."

A limited number of tickets are available for the concert. Anyone wishing to attend may contact Orchestra Business Manager, Louis Babst, at 432-5497 or 488-9420. Season subscribers who will not be using their tickets for this concert also are asked to contact Mr. Babst.

THE LINCOLN FRIENDS OF CHAMBER MUSIC ... will sponsor a concert to be held on Saturday evening, April 21, in the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery auditorium. Featured artists at the performance, which has been scheduled to replace the cancelled Dec. 1 concert, will be the New York String Sextet. The group will perform works by Boccherini, Schubert and Mozart. Some single admission tickets will be available at the door prior to the 8 p.m. concert, which is open to all season ticket holders.

TWO MAJOR HAPPENINGS ... are scheduled to take place at the Lincoln Community Playhouse in the not-too-distant future. On April 27 and 28, two one-act plays, to be directed by Bob Stuewig, will be presented in the Gallery Theatre. The first play, "The Zoo Story," written by Edward Albee, has been described as "one of the most heralded pieces of avant-garde theater in the 20th century." The second presentation, "Krapp's Last Tape" by Samuel Beckett, is a comedy which enjoyed considerable success during its extended, off-Broadway run. The curtain will rise each evening at 8:30 p.m., and reservations may be made by telephoning 489-9608. The Playhouse Annual Meeting, which will be highlighted by a presentation of comic readings directed by Mike Dobbins, will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15. Also included on the evening agenda will be a review of Playhouse activities and finances, and the election of directors.

THE LINCOLN ARTISTS' GUILD ... will hold its annual juried show from May 12 to May 19 in the Miller & Paine auditorium. Judges for the event will be Reinhold Marxhausen of Concordia College in Seward, and William Evans of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

"THE MEMORANDUM" ... a comical play written by Vaclav Havel, will premiere at Howell Memorial Theatre on the University of Nebraska campus, April 27. A farcical assault on the red tape and "efficiency" inherent in bureaucracies, the play won the Obie Award for off-Broadway productions in 1968. Performance dates, in addition to the opening night presentation, will include April 28 and 30, and May 1 through May 5. Performances will begin at 8 p.m.

LINCOLN ARTIST, JULIA SASKI ... currently is exhibiting a number of oil paintings and collages in the Art Shop at Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery. Many of Mrs. Saski's works demonstrate her affinity with the out-of-doors, and her collages are fashioned primarily from natural materials. The showing will continue through May 13.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S POPULAR PLAY ... "Candida," will be presented by the Nebraska Wesleyan University drama department, April 26 through April 29. Containing many of Shaw's views on social structures, the production will be presented in Enid Miller Theatre, and the curtain is scheduled to rise at 8 p.m. each evening.

AN EXPERIMENTAL THEATER ... in Denver, Colo., will produce a play which was written by Dr. Joseph Baldwin, professor of speech and dramatic art at the University of Nebraska. Entitled "A Sky of Faces: Monkey Island," it will be presented by The Changing Scene Theatre during the month of May. Dr. Baldwin's play is a fantasy in which a group of monkeys in a zoo regard the people that come to see them as mysterious "faces in the sky," and around these faces, the monkeys build their myths and religion.

THE PRE-COLUMBIAN ART EXHIBITION ... which will be on display at the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery through Sunday, April 29, includes ceramic styles ranging from 1800 B.C. to the Spanish Conquest in 1519. The 150 pieces being shown are representative of art forms found in Central and Southern Mexico, Central America and Peru.

CURTAIN CALL ... HAYMARKET ART GALLERY ... will feature acrylics by Devon Adams and welded sculpture by Jan Rudolph through Sunday, April 29.

... THE SENIOR ART MAJORS EXHIBIT ... will continue at the Hastings College Gallery of Art through Saturday, April 28.

The annual bosses night banquet, sponsored by the members of the Lincoln Chapter of Credit Women International — an evening at which the credit women entertain and salute their bosses — was held at the Legionnaire Club on Wednesday evening, April 18.

At the annual festivity, Mrs. Don Hudkins was honored as the Credit Woman of the Year, and her boss, Dale Haase, was, in due course, named the Boss of the Year.

Highlighting the event was an address presented by William K. Thompson, district superintendent of the United States Department of Agriculture, who recently was appointed to the President's Office of Equal Opportunity.

Musical selections also were presented by students at Pound

Junior High School.

Pictured at the bosses night event are — from left to right —

Mrs. Gary Parker, Mrs. W. W. Hamill, CWI president; Mrs. Hudkins, and Mr. Haase.

ABBY: the harm is done

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior in high school, and I live with my grandparents. My best friend (I'll call her Donna) is my age and we've been like sisters all our lives since she lives across the street.

My grandparents think Donna is an angel, so yesterday while they were going on and on about how perfect Donna was, I got mad and blurted out that Donna went all the way with Kenny, the boy she's been going steady with. I was sorry right after I said it, but it was too late.

Well, last night Grandpa said he felt it was his duty to tell Donna's father what I told him, but he needed my cooperation. Now he wants me to repeat to Donna's father what I told him. Abby, what I said was true, but I don't want to repeat it to Donna's father.

My grandpa is giving me a week to decide on what I want to say. I need your help, Abby. Should I cooperate or not? I really don't want to. I feel like a rat.

BIG MOUTH
DEAR BIG MOUTH: You've already done too much talking. Tell grandpa you don't want to repeat what you said about Donna. If he wants to tell Donna's father, you can't stop him. If he does, I hope you have a substitute best friend warming up in the bullpen.

DEAR ABBY: My divorce will be final in three weeks, but my ex is still following me around begging me to give him another chance.

Abby, I still love him, but I don't want to live with him. He's insanely jealous for no reason at all. I am a good Christian woman and never gave him cause to doubt me, but he has beat me up several times trying to get me to "confess."

Bridge: quiz day

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

East	South	West	North
1♦	Dble	Pass	1♠
Pass	?

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠K93 ♥Q8653 ♦10 ♣AKJ4
2. ♠AQ874 ♥Q962 ♦K5 ♣K8
3. ♠KJ98 ♥AQ10 ♦83 ♣AK97
4. ♠Q6 ♥AQJ94 ♦K9 ♣AQJ3

1. Pass. A player who doubles for takeout is not obligated to bid again if partner makes no more than a forced response. It must be remembered that partner's simple reply to a double does not show strength and, in fact, it will often be based on a weak hand.

Generally speaking, a double promises at least the values for an opening bid. If the doubler lacks values beyond those already guaranteed, he is expected to pass partner's minimum response. In this instance, there is no good reason to bid again over a spade. Game is impossible, considering North's failure to identify a promising hand by making a jump response. A raise to two spades would indicate values that are not game.

present, and a bid of two hearts or two clubs would be a rank shot in the dark.

2. Two spades. Bearing in mind that partner's response shows spade length (four or more spades), you should feel reasonably safe for eight tricks. Counting the distribution and the trump fit, the hand is worth about 17 points, which warrants a single raise — but no more. The raise invites partner to go on with suitable values.

3. Three spades. Of course, a raise to three represents greater values than a raise to two, and usually has about 19 points. It invites North to bid again with moderate values. At the same time, North may pass with a simply dreadful hand, since three spades is not forcing.

4. Two hearts. That's all you can safely bid — even though it hurts. It is true you have greater values than the double and the two-heart bid indicate, but your 19 high-card points, though impressive, require a voluntary move forward by partner.

You have already indicated substantial values by showing your hand was much too strong for a mere one-heart bid. You should leave it to partner to do the rest. He is presumably just as anxious as you are to score a game.

Miss Faye Reynolds will present a travelogue at the Friday evening, April 20, meeting of Beta Conclave, Kappa Kappa Iota.

Hostess for the 7:30 o'clock event will be Mrs. Hans Akeson, who will be assisted by Mrs. Arthur Thompson.

a tour of the shops — new discoveries

This week "on a tour of the shops" we are emphasizing small home decorating accessories, which often make ideal gifts for showers, weddings, birthdays or other special occasions. We found these items at a new gift shop in the Gateway Shopping Center and at a boutique in downtown Lincoln.

AT GATE HOUSE 210

Whether you desire fun and frivolous gifts and accessories, or whether your tastes follow the dainty and delightful vein, the Gate House 210, which opened its doors for the first time on Monday at 210 Gateway North, is the place for you. Owned and operated by Madonna Smith and Jeanne Mowbray the shop, which houses many boutiques in the converted white brick and iron gate home, has items to please every taste, for every occasion, for every room in your home, and for every budget.

EATON'S ALLEY is the gourmet gallery in Gate House, and in that individual boutique we found hundreds of extraordinary selections, including authentic French baker racks. Made of black wrought iron with shelves of glass, the racks originally were used for the storage of baked goods — however, in Eaton's Alley, those attractive furnishings are tastefully employed as display cases on which we found many delightfully enticing gift and home items.

Snack sets take on new dimensions when they are ornamented with such designs as herbs carried out in a black and white motif. Other attractive snack plate and mug sets feature such designs as animals, daisies and needlepoint effects.

For the gourmet cook, we recommend the French casserole, pitcher, milk creamer and soufflé dish ensembles which are patterned with birds, flowers, blue cornflowers, and fruits, to name just a few of the designs.

PAPER PARLOR is the name applied to the mini-boutique where we found writing and wrapping accessories for every use. There, we even found 'apron strings,' those nostalgia-oriented cloth ties, as well as gingham ribbons.

IN THE CORK AND TALLOW, we found every necessity under the sun for entertaining, as well as for wick and wax lighting. For adorning your bar area, we suggest Lucid Lines, permanently etched music and playbills on glass which produces a three-dimensional effect. To complete the atmosphere accomplished with the Lucid Lines, we recommend pitchers and mugs which also are ornamented with nostalgic theater bills.

THE CHAMBER POT is the bath boutique at Gate House 210, and, understandably, it is the home of delightful bath accessories ranging from towels and towel holders and racks, to personalized soaps and soap dishes, and glasses and mirrors.

GRANNY GOOD FOX is the name for the room which is a grandmother's delight. It is the children's boutique which houses the doll house and all of its furnishings, as well as those darling Joan Walsh Anglund dolls, plaques, paper dolls, and even old-fashioned school desks for the dolls.

Gifts for Baby also are found in the Granny Good Fox Room, where we found pink or blue and white gingham bags in a variety of shapes and sizes.

IN THE FIRESIDE ROOM we found attractive gift items for the home. The plate rail is employed to display many pewter pieces, but others are found in display cases. Some of the more unique pewter items include thimbles, pill boxes, and button boxes.

Porcelain makes a lovely gift — and at Gate House 210, we found Limoges French porcelain miniatures, as well as other porcelains, including thimbles, pin boxes, and some delightful bisque figures of children. Other attractive items found in the Fireside Room include Mimosa hand-painted flowers in crystal vases, other vases in all sizes, shapes, and textures; a delicate porcelain Bohemian crèche, a pastel Flemish floral arrangement, and much, much more.

AT THE WRIGHT SHOPPE

For those seeking a little extra something to dress up that bookshelf, table or empty wall-space, may we suggest a stop at The Wright Shoppe, located in the Sharp Building in downtown Lincoln. The gift shop displays a variety of unique items for every room and motif.

Among the specialties at The Wright Shoppe are many imported items which are distinctive and characteristic of the country from which they originated; but there are many other articles and works from artists who make their homes right here in the United States.

A SWEDISH TOUCH: Objects from Sweden add a warm touch to any kitchen, and those available at The Wright Shoppe are numerous.

For example, there are groupings of tea and coffee pots with matching salt and pepper shakers, cream pitchers, sugar bowls and ashtrays. The tea and coffee pots are white enamel with black handles and they feature brightly painted flowers and favorite Swedish sayings. The other pieces of the ensemble are embellished with the same designs, however, they are made of a durable ceramic.

Also from Sweden, there are wooden hot plates and two sizes of bread boards, which display a variety of country scenes and Swedish sayings, such as "Var sa god" — which means "help yourself."

ACCENTS FROM POLAND: There are several hand-painted and hand-tooled articles from Poland at The Wright Shoppe, and included among them are beautiful decorated plates which could be used for serving candy.

The larger portion of the display from Poland is comprised of attractive boxes in a variety of sizes. One that we particularly liked serves as a container for two decks of cards. Constructed of wood, the box is tinted a red hue and embellished with intricate carvings of hearts, diamonds and clubs on the lid. The larger boxes often are decorated with colorful bird or floral patterns and they can be used for letters, jewelry boxes or trinkets.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS: The newest items at The Wright Shoppe are the bread-dough dolls, which are designed and made right here in the United States.

Each three-inch doll is hand-created, hand-painted and suspended from a string for hanging. The dolls assume the characteristics of little girls with pinafores or colorful dresses and straw hats or large bows in their hair.

ECOLOGY BOXES: For those who would like to try to create their own decorating items for themselves, or gifts, may we suggest the Ecology Box frames and glass, which are available at The Wright Shoppe. The boxes are sold in the natural wood, so they can be stained or painted, and the divided compartments can be filled with small dolls, straw flowers, shafts of wheat, popcorn, peppercorns, split peas, and anything else you can dream up.

Also, as a reminder, we would like to mention that the 1973 Hummel plates, featuring the Globe Trotter, are now available at The Wright Shoppe.

Steps Being Taken To Preserve Old Cemetery At Sod Town

SOD TOWN, Neb. (AP)—Back off the beaten path about eight miles southeast of Ravenna is a community called Sod Town which, naturally, got its name from the type of construction once used there.

Now, the town is mostly just a name and a place people can identify with. A cemetery remains, however, and it tells a story about the people who settled the surrounding farmland.

The original acre of land for the Sod Town Cemetery was purchased June 3, 1880, from Caroline and Alonzo Brumley.

Two Hurt In Swine Barn Fire

North Platte (UPI) — Two University of Nebraska employees suffered facial burns Thursday afternoon when a fire extensively damaged a swine

Park Play Named

The Department of Parks and Recreation has announced its summer theater production "Bye Bye Birdie" will be presented at Easterday Recreation Center in July. Tryouts will be announced.

Authorities said Mike McCormack and Jens Stall were working in the swine barn when the fire broke out and were rushed to North Platte Memorial Hospital where they were admitted.

Authorities said workmen had been installing countertops in the barn when fumes from the glue they were using were apparently ignited when a water heater started.

Late in 1897 two more acres were purchased from R. J. and J. C. Bruckner.

Then headstones with names like Urwiller, Brummel, Hunt-sberger, Gross, Spahr, Bernet, Stueber, Links, Heusel, Bilke and Cowell began appearing.

People living in the area all cooperated in the maintenance, keeping the native grasses neatly trimmed and free of weeds. Bushes, flowers and trees were planted.

On May 29, 1959, a tornado churned through the tiny cemetery scattering trees and head stones. The cemetery was put back in order, but then relatives began moving away and interest waned.

A $5 maintenance fee was assessed but only about 16 families were paying it.

Otto Basnett, head of the Sod Town Cemetery Association, says, "The people who pioneered this land never thought this would happen."

The association, however, is attempting to raise money to invest, with the interest earmarked for future care of the cemetery.

Basnett says legal papers will be drawn and the wording will insure that the principal of the investment will never be spent, just the interest that is earned.

He says relatives of people who are buried in the cemetery are "really tickled that we are doing something."

The association has had pledges from persons living as far away as Washington. Others have come from Arizona, California, Colorado and Wyoming.

"The relatives drift away," Basnett observes. "They think about their loved ones, but there is nothing they can do about it."

Now, the Sod Town Cemetery Association is trying to change that.

ORDINANCE NO. 10752

AN ORDINANCE MAKING CERTAIN FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS: AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION, FURNISHING AND EQUIPPING OF A SINGLE STRUCTURE FOR USE AS A TERMINAL FOR THE MUNICIPAL BUS TRANSIT SYSTEM AND AS AN OFF-STREET PARKING FACILITY; AUTHORIZING THE ACQUISITION BY PURCHASE, CONDEMNATION, EXCHANGE OF PROPERTY INTERESTS OR OTHERWISE OF A SITE FOR SAID STRUCTURE, INCLUDING BY THE EXCHANGE OF PROPERTY INTERESTS IN SAID STRUCTURE FOR PROPERTY INTERESTS IN SUCH SITE; PROVIDING FOR THE PAYMENT OF THAT PART OF THE COSTS OF SAID STRUCTURE ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE TERMINAL PORTION THEREOF FROM THE PROCEEDS OF BONDS OF THE CITY HERETOFORE AUTHORIZED AND FROM GRANTS FROM THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT; PROVIDING FOR THE PAYMENT OF THAT PART OF THE COSTS OF SAID STRUCTURE ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE PARKING FACILITY PORTION THEREOF FROM THE PROCEEDS OF BONDS OF THE CITY TO BE ISSUED UNDER SECTION 66-423.01, REISSUE REVISED STATUTES OF 1943 OF NEBRASKA, 1972 SUPPLEMENT, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF SAID BONDS, FIXING THE FORM AND CERTAIN OF THE DETAILS THEREOF AND PROVIDING FOR THE REMAINDER OF SAID DETAILS; AUTHORIZING THE LEASING OF OR THE GRANTING OF CONCESSIONS IN CERTAIN PORTIONS OF SAID STRUCTURE; AND PROVIDING FOR OTHER MATTERS IN CONNECTION WITH THE FOREGOING.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF LINCOLN, NEBRASKA:

Section 1. FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS. The Council of the City of Lincoln (the "City") hereby finds and determines:

A. At the City general election held May 4, 1971 the voters of the City approved the borrowing of money by the City and the pledging of its credit upon its bonds in the amount of $965,000 for the purpose of acquiring and establishing, furnishing and equipping a municipal bus transit system. Additionally, grants from the federal government under various federal laws applicable to mass transit have been received or committed. The City by means of interim financing and from the federal grants has acquired the bus transit system and is now in the process of establishing, furnishing and equipping the same. In order to provide for the proper operation of the municipal bus transit system so as to be most beneficial to the inhabitants of the City and alleviate transportation and traffic problems, it is necessary, advisable and desirable as part of the establishing of said system that the City construct, operate and maintain in the downtown central business area of the City a terminal for said system for the use of the general public.

B. In order to relieve traffic congestion in the downtown central business area of the City, thereby alleviating or reducing the hazards and inconveniences to and the burdens upon the inhabitants of the City arising therefrom and enhancing the well-being of said inhabitants, it is necessary, advisable and desirable that the City construct, operate and maintain in said area a facility for the off-street parking of vehicles for the use of the general public.

C. By reason of the interrelationship between public mass transit and private vehicular traffic and also by reason of land and construction costs, it is in the economic and other interests of the City that the terminal referred to in item A above and the parking facility referred to in item B above be constructed as a single structure consisting of a basement, a ground floor in which said terminal shall be located and vehicular access to the upper floors provided and four upper floors, which upper floors shall be used for the parking of vehicles, thereby enhancing the utility of the interrelationship between the municipal bus transit system and the private vehicular traffic and making greater and more efficient use of the land necessary for such terminal and parking facility.

D. It is in the best interest of the City that the single structure referred to in item C above to house both the terminal referred to in item A above and the parking facility referred to in item B above be located on the land bounded by O Street, 12th Street, N Street and 11th Street.

E. In order to prevent the single structure referred to in item C above from detracting from, lessening the safety or value of, or constituting a blight upon or otherwise adversely affecting the area in which such structure will be erected as set forth in item D above and from lessening the viability of such area to provide pedestrian amenities, it is necessary, advisable, desirable and feasible that retail and commercial space be provided in portions of the lower floors, and particularly the street floor, of such single structure around the perimeter thereof. It is also necessary, advisable, desirable and feasible for the convenience, comfort and well-being of the users of the terminal referred to in item A above and the parking facility referred to in item B above that provision be made for concessions in those parts of the single structure housing said terminal and facility, which concessions may, but need not be, related to the transportation of passengers or the parking of vehicles.

F. It is necessary, desirable, advisable and feasible in the economic and other interests of the City that various of the parcels of the land constituting the site referred to in item D above be acquired by the City by the conveyance to the City by the owners of such parcels of title in fee simple to such parcels in consideration of the conveyance to such owners by the City of a condominium or subdivided interest in the single structure referred to in item C above to be constructed on said site, the condominium or subdivided interest to be so conveyed by the City to be on the basement, ground and first upper floor only of said structure; to be on the perimeter thereof; to have floor space approximately equivalent to that of the parcel conveyed to the City; to be in "shell form" only, i.e., to contain necessary structural and bearing walls and those utility provisions, such as heating, air conditioning, water supply, sewage disposal and the like, which are constructed as part of the overall structure, but not to include furnishings and equipments or to be in a finished state; and to be used only for retail or commercial use.

G. The net cost to the City of acquiring the site referred to in item D above and constructing thereon the single structure referred to in item C above to house both the terminal referred to in item A above and the parking facility referred to in item B above is estimated by this Council at $7,200,000, of which amount approximately $6,000,000 arises out of the costs of including said parking facility in such structure, and $1,200,000 arises out of the direct costs of including said terminal in such structure. The City shall incur an additional $1,500,000 by reason of the inclusion in said structure of concessions and of retail or commercial space, including the condominiums referred to in item F above. Such additional costs of $1,500,000 are related and reasonably incidental to the supplying by the City of said terminal and parking facility for the reasons set forth in items E and F above and are properly allocable and attributable to the costs of said terminal and parking facility and represent part of the costs to the City of acquiring the aforesaid site. Consequently, the net cost to the City for said site and structure will be, as aforesaid, approximately $7,200,000. By reason of the fact that in lieu of paying directly for all of the land for said site, the City will be exchanging property interests for portions of such land.

H. In order to provide moneys to pay the cost to the City of the acquisition by the City of the site referred to in item D above and the construction thereon of the single structure referred to in item C above to house the terminal referred to in item A above and the parking facility referred to in item B above, including the retail and commercial space, the provision for concessions and the condominiums or subdivided interests referred to in items E and F above, there shall be applied to such costs (a) an amount from the proceeds of the bonds referred to in item A above, which together with amounts of any federal grants and other funds received for that purpose, is equal to that part of such costs allocable to the aforesaid terminal, and (b) the proceeds of the bonds authorized in Section 3 hereof for the purpose of providing moneys for that part of such costs allocable to the aforesaid parking facility.

Section 2. AUTHORIZATION OF COMBINED TERMINAL AND OFF-STREET PARKING FACILITY AND ACTIVITIES RELATED THERETO. Each of the following be, and the same is, hereby authorized by the City:

A. The acquisition by the City by purchase, condemnation or exchange of property interests as set forth in item F of Section 1 hereof of the land bounded by O Street, 12th Street, N Street and 11th Street, the same being block 56, Original Plat, Lincoln, Lancaster County, Nebraska.

The City also shall levy valorem taxes upon all the taxable property, except intangible property, in the City at such rate or rates as will provide funds which, together with the receipts from the Highway Allocation Fund pledged as aforesaid to the payment of the Bonds and any other moneys made available and used for that purpose, will be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds as they severally mature, which taxes, as provided in Section 3 of Article IX of the Charter of the City, shall be in addition to taxes levied for general revenue purposes of the City. The issuance of the Bonds shall not be subject to any limitations of indebtedness in the Charter of the City or be subject to any restrictions imposed upon or condition precedent to the exercise by the City of the power to issue bonds contained in said Charter. The Bonds shall have such details, be in such form and be sold in such manner, and the proceeds thereof applied, as is provided or determined in the remaining sections of this ordinance. The Bonds shall be in the denomination of $5,000 each; shall be numbered from 1 upward in order of maturity; shall bear interest at such rate or rates per annum as shall be specified in the best bid therefor, if any bid therefor be accepted, with the average of such rate or rates not to exceed the legal rate per annum and with such interest to be payable semi-annually, except that the first interest payment date may be on any date which is not later than one year from the date of the bonds; shall become due in a period not exceeding twenty (20) years from their date; shall mature in substantially equal annual principal installments or substantially equal annual installments of any principal and interest, such installments of principal to commence in any event not later than three years after the date of issuance of the Bonds; and shall be redeemable at the option of the City at any time on and after ten (10) years from the date thereof at redemption premiums not exceeding four per cent (4%) upon such notice of redemption as is provided in the form of the Bonds set forth in Section 5 hereof. Both the principal of and interest on the Bonds shall be payable at the office of the County Treasurer of the County of Lancaster, Nebraska, in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in any coin or currency of the United States of America which at the time of such payment is legal tender for public and private debts. Subject to the foregoing limitations of this section, the finance director of the City shall determine the date of the Bonds; the series designation thereof, if any; the interest payment dates thereof; the maturity dates thereof; the amount of principal maturing on each such maturity date; and the redemption premium or premiums and the periods such premiums are payable; provided that all such details shall be subject to ratification by this Council by resolution adopted at the time of sale of the Bonds.

The Bonds shall be sold for not less than par at public sale upon receipt of sealed bids therefor. The finance director of the City shall be responsible for the sale of the Bonds. The finance director is hereby authorized to select a date for the sale of the Bonds at such time as he deems to be in the best interests of the City, to advertise for bids for the Bonds, and to proceed with the sale of the Bonds.

The Bonds shall be issued payable to bearer with coupons for interest attached in the form set forth in Section 5 hereof. The Bonds shall be signed by the facsimile signature of the Mayor and countersigned manually by the finance director and shall have imprinted thereon a facsimile of the seal of the City. The interest coupons attached to the Bonds shall be executed by the facsimile signatures of the Mayor and the finance director.

The finance director shall be responsible for the delivery of the Bonds. The finance director and all officials of the City are hereby authorized to take all action subsequent to the sale of the Bonds and acceptance of a bid therefor, if any bid for the Bonds be accepted, in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance as is necessary to effect the delivery of the Bonds to the purchasers thereof in accordance with the bid of said purchasers. Said officials are hereby authorized to execute such orders, certificates, receipts and other documents that may be necessary or desirable to effect such delivery and to receive the purchase price for the Bonds.

There is hereby created and established with the City Treasurer a fund to be known as the "Off-Street Parking Facility Bond Proceeds Fund" (hereinafter referred to as the "Bond Proceeds Fund"). The proceeds received from the sale of the Bonds (exclusive of the interest, if any, accrued thereon, which accrued interest shall be held and applied to the payment of interest on the Bonds) shall be held in the Bond Proceeds Fund, to be used and applied to the payment of that part of the costs of acquiring the land described in item A of Section 2 hereof and constructing, furnishing and equipping thereon the structure referred to in item C of said section which are directly related or reasonably incidental or properly allocable and attributable to the inclusion in said structure of the off-street parking facility authorized in items C and D of Section 2 hereof. Pending such use and application, moneys in the Bond Proceeds Fund may be invested by the finance director to the extent and in the manner provided by law. The City covenants with the purchasers of the Bonds that the City will make no use of the proceeds of the Bonds which, if such use had been reasonably expected on the date of issue of the Bonds, would have caused the Bonds to be "arbitrage bonds," as defined in subsection (d) (2) of Section 103 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, and that the City shall comply with the requirements of subsection (d) of Section 103 of said Internal Revenue Code and the applicable regulations of the Internal Revenue Service adopted hereunder, throughout the term of the Bonds.

Last Ditch Moves Fail To Halt Budget OK

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

After rejecting a series of last ditch efforts to head off the inevitable, the Legislature Thursday enacted Gov. J. James Exon's operational budget bill on a 33-15 vote.

The 33rd vote necessary to give the budget life in time for the beginning of the new fiscal year came at the last moment when Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, an opponent of the bill, changed his no vote.

It would be "irresponsible" for the Legislature to enact the bill, but not provide the 33 votes required to give it immediate effect, Simpson explained. Without 33 votes, the bill could not have taken effect until three calendar months after the 1973 Legislature adjourns.

Since adjournment is not anticipated until late May, the budget bill would not have been operative until late August, nearly two months after the July 1 beginning of the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Among other problems, state employees might have faced two months of work without pay.

Final passage of the bill followed rejection of proposals to accept Exon's own amendments to his original bill, and a last effort by Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln to gain consideration for the Appropriations Committee's alternative budget package.

Exon had requested the Legislature by letter to fill gaps in his original bill with amendments which would add $366,105 in funding.

Sen. Glenn Goodrich's bid to accept those changes was rebuffed on a 14-30 vote. Mrs. Marsh's effort to substitute the committee's plan was rejected on an 18-24 vote.

On the Marsh motion, four of the committee's members, including Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings, repudiated the committee's own plan. Two members sat in their seats and refused to vote on the motion.

Supporting Mrs. Marsh were two other committee members, including Simpson and Sen. E. Thome Johnson of Fremont.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha was slapped, on a 15-26 vote, when he attempted to return the budget bill, LB259, to the committee for further consideration.

Three times Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha tried to alter the Legislature's current budgeting policy. His motion to kill the governor's bill and start anew was buried on an 8-36 count.

Chambers was twice rebuffed in efforts to rescind the Legislature's present policy of banning consideration of any further spending bills, with the exception of salary measures and reappropriations for capital construction already underway.

Marvel was subjected to intensive questioning from Chambers and Sen. John Cavanaugh III of Omaha, both of whom sought justification for his support of the governor's recommendations over the committee package.

"There are a few inadequacies in the bill," Marvel told Chambers.

It is the best possible budget "under existing circumstances," Marvel told Cavanaugh.

Questioned by Cavanaugh, Sen. Dave Stahmer of Omaha, a budget unit member, said the bill would be "improved" by addition of the governor's own amendments.

"Is it an adequate budget?" Cavanaugh asked.

"No," Stahmer replied. Stahmer voted against the bill, but declined to vote on either the Goodrich or Marsh motions.

After the final vote, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, who voted against enactment of the bill, attempted to explain the Legislature's position.

The issue was not whether the bill is adequate or inadequate, Warner said. "We know there are problems in the budget."

The decision was whether to enact an adequate budget or to go his (Exon's) route and have a reduction in taxes," Warner said.

The Legislature will still have opportunities to "take care of deficiencies," he suggested.

Marvel said he is satisfied that the bill — even without Exon's amendments — is "a reasonable representation of the governor's philosophy of budgeting for state operations."

The additions were pegged for the University of Nebraska Medical Center, the State Supreme Court, the Department of Health and the public employees retirement fund.

Without those amendments, Goodrich argued, the Legislature has failed to seal its budget-and-tax bargain with Exon and has fallen into "a trap."

Now, he said, the Legislature has enacted "a piecemeal budget" and is subject to "rightful criticism from the governor."

We have given him an out."

Proud said the public will find the Legislature, not the governor, liable for inadequate budgeting.

Chambers quoted previous remarks by Marvel in a newspaper interview in which he said the committee's own plan corrected weaknesses in the governor's bill and fulfilled the Legislature's responsibility to establish priorities and set policy.

"I'm not interested in satisfying the governor," Mrs. Marsh said. "I'm interested in serving the people of the state."

Budget Carries Increase Of 5%

Accepting Gov. J. James Exon's initial budget recommendations, the Legislature Thursday approved a 5% increase in state tax appropriations for the operation of state government during fiscal 1973-74.

The spending hike is closer to 8% when compared to the current level of state spending, which lags slightly behind the appropriations figure.

The $608.9 million budget bill, LB259, will support state operations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Spending from the tax-supported general fund will increase from $209.7 million to $225.8 million. The 1972-73 appropriation was $214.7 million.

If additional spending is not authorized by the Legislature — and its current intention is not to do so — the budget will permit a reduction in state tax rates for calendar 1974.

The general fund appropriation compares with state agency requests totaling nearly $297 million.

Exon's recommendations were accepted in lieu of an Appropriations Committee package whose general fund totals were less than $4 million, or 2% larger than the governor's plan.

Committee additions had been directed for the University of Nebraska, the state college system and the program of community care for the mentally retarded.

Under LB259, tax support for NU will increase by $3.1 million, or 7%. The committee had increased that recommendation by $1.2 million.

The university's general fund appropriation will rise from $47.3 million to $50.8 million.

State tax appropriations for the Department of Public Institutions will jump from $20.1 million to $28.3 million.

The Department of Public Welfare, which is expected to

News Media Representatives Disagree On 'Shield' Changes

By The Associated Press
News media representatives reaffirmed their support of a newsman's shield law Thursday but disagreed on the need for a pending bill making changes proposed by Gov. J. James Exon in a shield bill already enacted.

The Judiciary Committee, which gave hearing to LB575, the bill at issue, put off action on the measure until after the Legislature's current Easter recess.

The original shield bill, LB380, was signed into law by Exon on a promise by its sponsor, Sen. John Savage of Omaha, to bring in a new bill making changes which Exon desired. Without the promise, Exon said he would have vetoed the bill.

LB380 essentially protects news media representatives from forced disclosure of the identity of news sources or relinquishing of unpublished material.

Exon Offers Proposals For Funds

The Legislature received Thursday another pair of spending proposals from Gov. J. J. Exon, including one which would use $30 million in federal revenue sharing funds for tax relief.

The bill, LB578, was sponsored for Exon by Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove and would earmark the revenue sharing funds for property tax relief and sales tax decreases.

The other proposal, to reappropriate capital construction funds for those structures approved in past years and now under construction, will be introduced as an amendment to a pending bill.

Kansans Seek To Identify Body

GARNETT, Kan. (AP) — Anderson County authorities and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation continued their efforts Thursday to identify a young man found dead in a wooded ravine some three miles south of Garnett.

There was only one outstanding characteristic of the fatality, believed to have been between 18 and 20, that might help in learning his identity, said Howard Docker, assistant KBI director — "two of his lower front teeth were baby teeth; a pathologist said this occurs about once in every 10,000 (adult) cases."

The badly decomposed body was discovered Wednesday by a farmer searching his land for mushrooms.
An autopsy showed the youth had suffered a skull fracture, "but it was not a fresh fracture," Docker said.
Authorities said the young man had been dead between two and four weeks.

Death Penalty Reinstated

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska reinstated the death penalty today.

By a 34-14 vote, the one-house legislature passed a bill prescribing capital punishment for premeditated murder, or killings in the course of rape, arson, robbery, kidnapping, hijacking or burglary.

Because the bill carried the emergency clause, it will take effect the moment it's signed by Gov. J. James Exon, who has supported the measure.

The law replaces one which, like those in other states, was made invalid by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling last year.

Nebraska's Atty. Gen. Clarence A.H. Meyer helped draw up the new bill and said he felt it was the best form of a bill which Nebraskans would accept and still be defended in a U.S. Supreme Court test.

Attempts to amend the bill had been beaten down during floor debate earlier. Lawmakers rejected proposals that the governor be designated the executioner, that a suicide option be offered condemned persons, and that life sentences be eliminated as an alternative to the death penalty.

Nebraska has not utilized its electric chair since Charles Starkweather was executed in 1959.

LB268 had earlier won 5-2 approval from the Legislature's Judiciary Committee. At a committee public hearing on the bill, Meyer said he felt the measure would "pass muster" with the supreme court decision.

Once a court or a jury determines guilt for a capital crime, LB268 provides for a separate penalty proceeding in courts, conducted by the presiding trial court judge or a separate three-judge panel.

Here's how senators voted on final reading passage of LB268: For (34)—Carpenter, C. Carsten, F. Carstens, Clark, Dickinson, Duis, Epke, Goodrich, Hasebroock, Johnson, Kennedy, Keyes, Kime, Kremer, R. Lewis, Mahoney, Marech, Marvel, Moylan, Murphy, Nore, Proud, Rasmussen, Richendifer, Savage, Schmit, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Stull, Syas, Whitney, Wiltse.

Against (14)—Anderson, Barnett, Cavanaugh, Chambers, DeCamp, Fellman, Fowler, Kelly, F. Leis, Luedtke, Marsh, Simpson, Waldon, Warner.

Not voting (1)—Burbach.

Committee Refuses To Move Age Limit

By United Press International The Legislature's Constitutional Revision Committee decided against advancement of constitutional proposals to put an age limit on state office holders and to allow the issuance of $50 million in bonds to underwrite student loans.

Both proposals were introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff who, at 73-years-old, said he thought the age limit measure would be approved by the voters.

"I think they would pass it," he told the committee. "I think they feel that people like myself have served too long."

As originally drafted, Carpenter suggested a limit of 65. The committee, however, raised it to 72 and then an advancement vote stalled 2-1-1.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha, who abstained from voting, said he thought it was just as well. He said the whole committee should consider that proposal. There were only four present Thursday.

As to the student loan proposal, Carpenter said the general public, rather than the Legislature, should decide that question.

"I think the people ought to be able to express themselves," he said.

That measure stalled on a 2-2 advancement vote.

No one appeared either for or against either proposal.

Senators Adjourn For Nine-Day Easter Vacation

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Legislature Thursday adjourned by an earlier decision and adjourned at noon for a nine-day Easter vacation.

Senators will return April 30 for the 72nd legislative day of a session limited to 90 days.

The vacation had been agreed upon several weeks ago, but there was some talk earlier this week of sine die adjournment as soon as Gov. J. J. Exon's main budget bill, LB259, was passed.

The bill was passed Thursday forenoon.

Sen. Blair Richendifer of Walthill made the motion Thursday to adjourn, suggesting that an afternoon session be bypassed because "we're not in a mood to do justice to anyone's bills."

Fluoridation Bill Said Constitutional

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A bill requiring all communities in Nebraska to fluoridate their water is constitutional, the state Justice Department told the Legislature Thursday.

"It is our opinion that LB449 is constitutional and, if passed, it could be enforced," said James Duggan assistant attorney general in answer to a question from Sen. Richard Marech of Milligan.

LB449 is scheduled for final reading in the near future. It would require the fluoridation of drinking supplies by all communities unless the community specifically votes against fluoridation.

A dozen communities in Nebraska, including Omaha and Lincoln, already fluoridate their water.

The Justice Department cited a recent court decision in Ohio upholding mandatory fluoridation.

Duggan also said LB449 could be enforced even though, as written, it lacks a penalty provision.

Break Out In Philippines Skirmishes

JOLO, Philippines — (AP) Army mortars and navy gunboats shelled suspected concentrations of Moslem rebels encircling this Sulu provisional capital, in the southernmost Philippines.

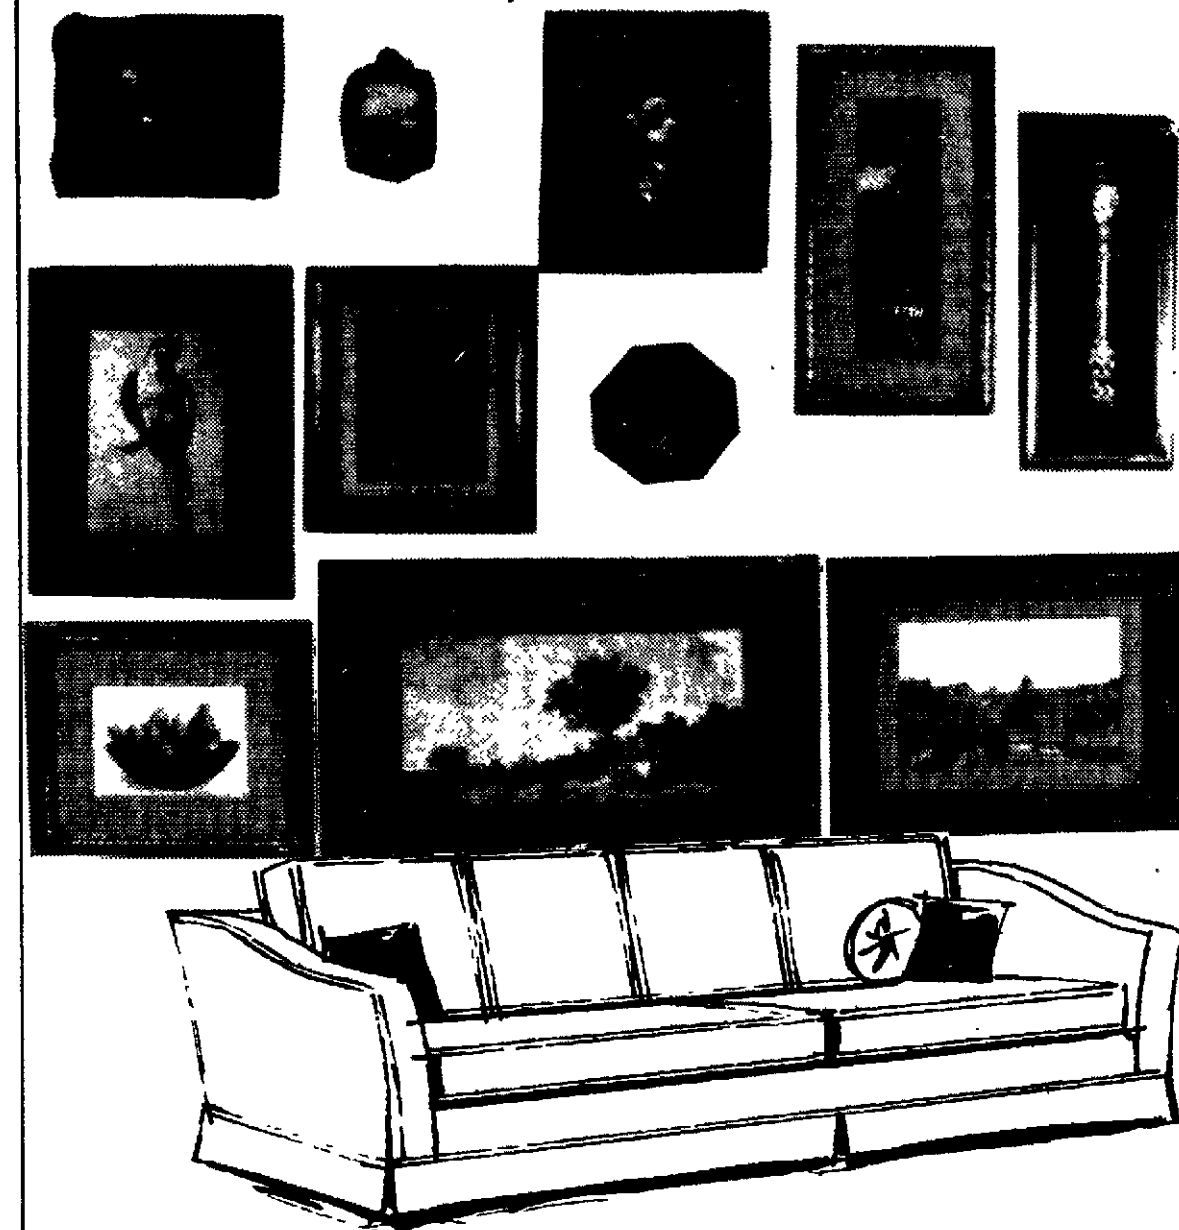

Civil guards in the provincial Capitol building also exchanged small-arms fire with insurgents in the overnight action.

Col. A.F. Rillera, commander of the 4th Infantry Brigade, said civilians reported to the army that at least 40 persons were killed and 90 others wounded in the shelling since Sunday — when rebel amnesty in the south expired.

No casualties were reported during the exchange of fire near the Capitol.

But scores of well-to-do Christians and Chinese, propelled by fears of being caught in the crossfire, have started evacuating Jolo.

LTS Loses 6% Less Money This March

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Operational loss for the Lincoln Transportation System in March is down 6% from last year, figures presented the LTS Board Thursday revealed.

According to the statement of income and operating expenses for Lincoln's buses for March, operating revenues were up 47% over last year and expenses were up 30% making the operating loss down 6% from the corresponding period last year.

It was noted that operating loss for the year is down 27% with revenues being up 45%.

The board recommended that the City Attorney be requested to include in the contract with the consultant to be named by the City Council on the proposed parking garage-bus terminal a provision that the consultant contact the LTS board so that representatives of that board may participate in planning of the proposed facility.

In other business the board approved an agreement with Gateway Shopping Center whereby Gateway will pay the normal take on the Crosstown Bus and spend $500 in advertising to promote that route on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the month of May.

It was explained that the riders will have the privilege of riding the bus to Gateway free on those days with Gateway picking up the tab as well as promoting the bus route with advertising.

The board tabled a petition for lower rates for student riders on the basis that revenues were not such that the board could afford to approve a reduction in fares for a particular group of riders.

Board member Jan Gauger said she felt that reduced rates for bulk purchase of tokens should be considered before giving a reduced rate to some group of riders.

The board also agreed to contact various businesses—some of which have expressed an interest—in purchase of tokens at a reduced rate for their employees to encourage bus transportation to and from work.

Power District Signs Agreements

Beatrice (UPI) — The board of directors of the Norris Public Power District signed agreements Wednesday with two banking firms for a $5 million electric system revenue bond issue.

The banking firms were the state's two largest: First Mid America and Kirkpatrick, Pettis, Smith and Polian.

Rural power districts traditionally have borrowed money from the government.

Chuckhole Bill $510,000

Omaha (AP) — Omaha will spend more this year filling chuckholes than it spent in the last two years, according to City Engineer Marvin B. Staven.

The bill for patching chuckholes this year will be $510,000, he said. The city spent $290,000 in 1972 and $210,000 in 1971.

and Norris is believed to be the first district in the nation to turn to public funds.

District officials said the move to public funds lays the groundwork to acquire new capital. The government's Rural Electrification Administration (REA) loans were recently terminated, but Norris officials say the Wednesday agreement was coincidental with the termination.

The funds obtained through the new bonds will be used for nonrural customers. The tax-exempt bonds will be sold to the public in units of $5,000.

Sheldon Shows Julia Saski Art

Oil paintings and collages are featured in Julia Saski's art exhibition at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Sheldon Gallery Art Shop through May 13.

Mrs. Saski's oil paintings vary from "Flower Market in Poland," a painting done in bright, vivid colors showing every flower in minute detail, to her painting entitled "Autumn" which shows its filmy images done in soft blues and browns.

Mrs. Saski enjoys nature and expresses this feeling in her work, which also includes collages made mostly from natural materials such as leaves and flower seeds. She also has done a few abstract paintings. Since she first took up painting 10 years ago in an adult education course offered by the Lincoln Public Schools, Mrs. Saski has completed more than 180 works.

Mrs. Saski attended the UNL

School of Fine Arts for two and a half years and also studied with Omaha artist Tom Palmerton. Before this training Mrs. Saski had only an elementary drawing Muller was director of the program for five years.

Judge Kerner Sentenced To Jail

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal Judge Otto Kerner was sentenced Thursday to three years in prison and fined $50,000 for taking bribes while he was governor of Illinois.

A federal judge sentenced Kerner to three years on each of 12 counts and ordered that they be served concurrently.

Kerner was the first active federal appeals judge to be convicted and sentenced for a crime. Theodore J. Isaacs, a long-time associate, also was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $50,000.

The two were convicted Feb. 19 in U.S. District Court of conspiracy, bribery, fraud and income tax evasion. Kerner also was convicted of perjury.

Judge Robert L. Taylor, told Kerner before sentencing: "In 23 years on the bench, this is the most difficult trial I have ever had. Now comes the most difficult part."

Kerner, 64, a two-term governor of Illinois, said: "I have said all I can say. I do not envy your position."

The judge ruled that Kerner could be granted parole at any time during his term. He and Isaacs were allowed to remain free on recognizance bond pending appeal.

Prior to sentencing, Judge Taylor dropped five of the 17 counts on which Kerner was convicted. Originally, Kerner faced a maximum sentence of 83 years in prison and fines totalling $93,000.

3 Ships Ordered

LONDON (AP) — The royal navy announced it has ordered three small aircraft carrier-cruisers that will cost a total of $500 million. The 20,000-ton warships are to be ready in 1978-80.

265 Electric Employees Will Return To Work

Omaha (AP) — Some 265 workers at the Western Electric Service Center, will return to work Monday, but union officials will continue to negotiate with the company over a disagreement that resulted in a walkout Tuesday, according to union president Darvin Abraham.

Abraham, president of Local 7495 of the Communications Workers of America, said Wednesday that the firm had violated an agreement to consult union officials before transferring workers from the center's repair shop to its warehouse.

The switch resulted in the walkout at 8 a.m. Tuesday. Western Electric suspended all 265 workers without pay until next Monday. The walkout was a contract violation, according to William Farley, service center manager.

Farley said the company had notified union officials of job switches in the past, but made no commitment to always inform them. Transfers are made to avoid layoffs when there is a shortage of work in the shop, he said.

AIR GUARD SCORES A FIRST

The Nebraska Air National Guard scored a first when they enlisted Mrs. Lynda Walker into their organization. Enlisting women into the Army and Air National Guard is becoming rather routine, but Mrs. Walker is the first black woman to sign up. She is scheduled to leave soon for basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., where she will take advanced administrative training. She lives at 3134 T with her 8-month-old son Donell. Shown administering the oath of enlistment to Mrs. Walker is Maj. Richard G. Wade, commander of the Combat Support Squadron, 155th Tactical Reconnaissance Group.

U.S.—Chile Relations Marked By Uncertainty, Says Dr. Gil

By S. M. Schafer
Star Staff Writer

Uncertainty has been the constant feature of Chilean-United States relations, according to Dr. Federico G. Gil, guest speaker at the University of Nebraska.

Gil, University of North Carolina professor and a specialist in Latin American government, spoke Thursday as part of the Latin American Spring Festival.

His talk was sponsored by the Institute of International Studies, the Political Science Department, and the University of Nebraska Research Council.

Gil reviewed the problems that have arisen in the past 2½ years between the United States and Chile since the election of the Marxist government of Dr. Salvador Allende.

He traced the history of American foreign policy in Latin America as having the objectives of preventing the influence of other world powers and maintaining American influence in the region through the use of economic, diplomatic and military activities.

Economic Clash
The primary clash between the countries has been economic. Allende's nationalization of the Kennecott and Anaconda copper mines in Chile has produced a reaction of "restrained anger" on the part of the U.S. government, he said.

This restrained anger has taken the form of international financial strangulation of Chile, Gil said. The decline in the price of copper, the withdrawal of loans from international banking organizations and severe restrictions on credit have crippled the nation financially, he said.

Allende has said he has had to battle the "aggression of transnational corporations", Gil said, citing the alleged interference of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company in the Chilean government.

Despite the condemnatory tone of Allende's remarks, Gil said the relations between the two nations have not appeared to have worsened. He termed the attitude of the United States as "cool and correct" with no interest in military intervention.

Allende's efforts to retain the appearance of proper relations with the United States has been a "dazzling diplomatic performance," Gil said.

"Washington's desires to create an atmosphere of détente has not been restricted to relations with China and the Soviet Union," Gil said. Talks have resumed on a new tone of cordiality between the governments.

'Strong Position'
"There are signs that Latin America as a whole becoming aware that the growing demands of the United States economy, combined with Japanese competition, may put the region in a strong bargaining position," he said.

This had led to some "serious rethinking" on the part of the American government to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward Allende's economic policies, he said.

The alternative policies for the United States are a continuation of the "get tough" approach and a loss of a significant amount of trade, or a softening of the economic pressures. This second option could lead other developing nations to believe that they could nationalize United States owned industries with relative impunity, Gil warned.

On the other hand, Chile's choices are not simple either, he said. Chile depends upon the dollar for the support of its financial system, but any giving in to U.S. demands for compensation to the copper corporations would have "disastrous political consequences."

"This would be considered by most Chileans as a betrayal of the most sacred principle of national sovereignty," Gil said.

Robinson Calls For Completion Of W. Bypass

City Council candidate John Robinson called for completion of the proposed West Bypass which he said would strengthen the downtown area.

Robinson said the bypass should be completed as soon as possible "if the environmental question concerning Wilderness park can be satisfactorily resolved."

"Unlike the Northeast Radial, the U.S. 77 West Bypass represents sound, in depth analysis and planning," he stated.

The corridor would strengthen the downtown by providing convenient access on K and L and by diverting some of the through traffic and would provide the catalyst necessary to encourage growth to the west, Robinson added.

Footprinters Elect Wolff As President

Charles L. Wolff Jr., Penal Complex Warden, was elected president of the Capital City Footprinters, Chapter 44, at a Wednesday evening board of directors meeting.

Other officers elected were Vernon O'Neal, secretary; Ellis Dannon, treasurer; Bill Greiner, Vic Wendelin, Cecil Parker, Ver-nard McGinn and Bob Atkins.

YAF Planning To Sponsor Speaking Tour

The state chairman of Young Americans for Freedom, Terrill R. Cannon, has announced that the YAF will sponsor a four day Nebraska speaking tour by Wu Shu-jen.

Wu is a former Red Guard, member of the Red Chinese Communist Party, member of the Red Chinese water polo team, and one of those picked to guard Mao Tse-tung during his famed Yangtze river swim.

Wu escaped Red China in 1969 and his talk will cover such diverse items as family life in Red China, governmental corruption, the existence of "underground" religious movements, and the indoctrination and manual labor college students are subjected to.

Wu is an engineering graduate of Tsing Hua University, Peking, and he will speak at the meeting of the university chapter of Young Americans for Freedom on Tuesday, April 24, in the Student Union at 9:00 p.m.

'Cordiality Felt'

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra played four concerts in Peking on a recent tour, and the orchestra chairman says the Chinese were less enthusiastic than Westerners about classical music, but "enormous cordiality could be felt."

Huskers, CU Bracing For Boulder Meeting

Boulder, Colo. — Square in the middle of the Big Eight pennant chase after taking two of three from powerhouse Oklahoma over the weekend, Colorado's ambitious baseballers host Nebraska Friday and Saturday on CU's

East Campus diamond in a "must" series for the Herd.

The Buffs are 7-2 in league play and will watch with interest when leader Oklahoma State (8-0) goes to Norman this weekend for three with the Sooners, who saw a one-out, tenth-inning homer by Buff frosh third baseman Kevin Kirk send them to a 5-4 defeat Saturday for their second straight loss at the hands of the Herd.

Nebraska, victim at one time recently of 10 straight rainouts in the Midlands, is 2-4 in league play. Tony Sharpe's team is suffering from the lack of games but has a great pitcher in junior Ryan Kurosaki to begin the series.

The Huskers ruined CU's title hopes by taking two of three from CU last year in a series shifted to Grand Island, Neb., because the new Husker field was not completed. The two losses eventually proved the margin in Oklahoma's run to the title as Colorado was rained out of its season-ending series at Ames with cellar-dwelling Iowa State.

Turpin Enjoys New Position

"Let's see, I try to keep kids from shooting or drowning themselves," Dick Turpin enumerated. "I try to help people understand why the out-of-doors is so fantastic ... and I stuff envelopes."

Just what is his new assignment? "I don't exactly know," he says. "I work for the Game and Parks Commission, and I sure hope I can be whatever my title says I am."

Nebraska Trio Earns Positions At Nationals

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Three Nebraska college athletes are among those in contention to qualify for the National Association of Intercollegiate athletics Track and Field national championships.

The NAIA said Thursday this year's championship should be filled with an all-star cast including Mark Mathews of Chadron State, and Don Cook and Pat Phillips, both of Doane College.

Mathews is 10th in the discus throw with a toss of 162 feet-6 inches. Cook is third in the shot put with a heave of 58 feet-2 1/2 inches, while Phillips is 8th in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet-8 1/2 inches.

years, Turpin has been promoted to Outdoor Safety and Public Information Officer. To the public that means he will be able to spin his yarns and maybe do some pickin' and grinnin' for the radio and TV audience that is tuned in to the Game Commission's growing programming.

To Turpin, it means contacting more people than ever before and talking about some of the things he likes best, the out-of-doors. The envelope stuffing comes in with the hunter safety course. "Sending out those certificates means a lot of licking!" he laughed.

Turpin brings a multi-faceted background to his new job. His outdoor experience as a conservation officer should come in handy, as he takes over the hunter safety program from Dick Nelson, who will continue his duties as a conservation education coordinator. Turpin might even teach his students some archery, and he's an avid fan of that sport.

But Turpin's talents don't end there. He's been playing guitar for years, dating back to the two years he spent at Norfolk Junior College, where he majored in mathematics. When he's not playing his guitar, he may be flying, for he's also a licensed pilot. A graduate of Bassett High School, his first job with the Commission was in the Engineering and Operations Division.

Patriots, Buffalo Complete Trade

Foxboro, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots traded linebacker Jim Cheyunski, guard Mike Montler, an ex-Coloradoan, and defensive end Halvor Hagen to the Buffalo Bills Thursday for running back Wayne Patrick and linebackers Edgar Chandler and Jeff Lyman.

The key man in the trade for the Patriots was Patrick, a 245-pound back from Louisville, who was obtained to replace Carl Garrett, traded to the Chicago Bears earlier this year for a first-round draft choice. Patrick had his best season in 1971, ranking as the Bills' No. 2 runner and receiver.

Stock Score Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock market prices scored moderate gains Thursday, responding to what analysts called an oversold condition.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.89 at 963.20. The Dow had climbed over 5 points in early trading, dropped to around Wednesday's level in early afternoon, then rebounded around the close.

"The market is giving indications of being completely sold out on a near-term basis," said Alan R. Shaw, analyst with Harris, Upham & Co.

Other brokers noted that prices had been drifting lower earlier in the week and toward the end of the previous week and said that many issues represented good buys.

The strong quarterly earnings made these issues seem even more underpriced, and triggered a technical rally, brokers noted.

News that the economy in the first quarter had risen at a 14.3 per cent annual rate while inflation climbed at a 6 per cent annual rate largely had been discounted, analysts continued.

International Telephone was volume leader on the Big Board, losing 2 1/2 to 34 1/2. The firm's earnings were reported as 10 cents a share for the first quarter, down from 11 cents a share in the fourth quarter of 1972.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index rose 0.34 to 22.7 while the NASDAQ composite index of over-the-counter trading was up 1.15 to 10.41, and the Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.89 to 963.20.

Brown & Ferris, which called off a secondary offering, rose 1/2 to 22 1/2. The firm's earnings were reported as 10 cents a share for the first quarter, down from 11 cents a share in the fourth quarter of 1972.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Brokerage Firms' Actions Criticized by Columnist

By Mervyn S. Ruker
James Needham, who resigned from the SEC to become paid chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, has been quickly sounding out informed opinion to find out why little fellows have been staying away from Wall Street in droves. Recently, as a sign of times, the number of individual owners of corporate shares after a steady climb through the years backslid.

Wall Street as the mechanism by which private enterprises attract popular savings to procure capital goods — machinery and plant facilities — is too important to be regarded as a mere special interest.

During the boom preceding the recession of the late Sixties, the brokerage industry failed to keep pace with economic growth and technological progress. While brokers were professing to assess the quality of management in great industrial, transportation and public utility enterprises, they neglected their own backyard.

Long Delays
Bookkeeping facilities failed to keep up with big markets, and patrons suffered long delays in stock transfers. Then when firms misjudged the permanence of big markets and incurred losses from excessive overhead, they forgot their obligation under people's capitalism to encourage small investors and some ruthlessly discontinued small accounts.

Likewise, they changed the rules in midstream, refusing to deal in securities which dropped below an arbitrary price. Thus there were gross inequities in which a broker who had bought stock X for a customer at a high price refused to sell after the same security had dropped below the arbitrary minimum price, thus thwarting the patron's opportunity to realize a capital loss for tax purposes.

Defaulting brokers would suggest to such customers that they go to the bank to make the sale for purposes of record, shifting to the bank the burden of finding a more cooperative broker.

Likewise, in the panicky spirit of sacrificing long term goals to meet immediate red ink deficits, brokers turned their backs on the Stock Exchange's own campaign to develop new investors through the Monthly Investment Plan, whereby customers could prudently make periodical deposits to buy selected investment stocks on a "dollar averaging" basis.

During the back of the house inadequacies in brokerage firms, much of which has since been corrected by computers, brokers arbitrarily made unilateral rules. Customers were required to be punctual in paying for securities, even though brokers were running late in sending out confirmations of transactions. And delays in transferring shares to the new owners were scandalous. Even today, brokers and enforcing regulations against customers whose checks for keeping up margins don't arrive on time, ignoring the fact that the patrons may be victims of unreasonable postal delays.

There were other ways in which shysters thought only of their own commissions instead of serving patrons. Churning was an abuse. There were other ways in which unscrupulous security vendors allowed a conflict of interest to misguide investors. Through the years, this columnist received complaints from readers concerning no-load fees, cooperation concerning no-load fees. Too frequently, scienceless security vendors would imply that such funds were undesirable, solely because they couldn't earn a fee on such funds, which were available only through the sponsor, whereas on conventional "load" funds they could earn up to 8 1/2%.

As for the investor, however, it's sheer emotionality to boycott the capital market now because his security selections were imprudent and ill timed in earlier years.

(Mr. Ruker will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters should be sent to the Editor of the Lincoln Star, 1000 N. 1st St., Lincoln, Neb. 68502. Questions of general interest, to the extent possible, will be handled by mail.)

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
